

Republican espionage reportedly widespread

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Post today quoted sources including an assistant attorney general of Tennessee as saying that President Nixon's campaign committee had planned political espionage against the Democrats since mid-1971.

"The Nixon forces, using funds from GOP campaign contributions, attempted to discredit individual Democratic presidential candidates and disrupt their campaigns, according to federal investigators. 'Intelligence work' is normal during a campaign and is said to be carried out by both political parties," the Post said. "But the investigators said what they uncovered goes far beyond what is normal, and is unprecedented in its extent and intensity."

The Post listed among its sources FBI and Justice Department files; Assistant Attorney General Alex B. Shipley of Tennessee; and three lawyers—Roger Lee Nix of Dennison, Iowa, Kenneth Griffiths of Atlanta and Peter Dixon of San Francisco.

The newspaper said the espionage campaign was uncovered when five men were arrested June 17 inside Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building.

The five, a White House aide and an attorney for Nixon's campaign committee—both of whom resigned shortly after the arrests—were indicted in August on charges of burglary and illegal electronic surveillance. Their trial is expected to begin in a few weeks.

"Both at the White House and within the President's re-election committee," the Post said, "the intelligence-sabotage operation was commonly called the 'offensive security' program of the Nixon forces, according to investigators."

"Perhaps the most significant finding of the whole Watergate investigation, the investigators say, was that numerous specific acts of political sabotage and spying were all traced to this 'offensive security,' which was conceived and directed in the White House and by President Nixon's re-election committee."

The Post said the Watergate investigation "definitely established that virtually all the acts against the Democrats were financed by a secret, fluctuating $350,000-$700,000 campaign fund that was controlled by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell... (and) kept in a safe in the office of the President's chief fund raiser, former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans."

A spokesman for Nixon's campaign committee said, "The Post story is not only fiction but a collection of absurdities."

Talks now 'delicate'

PARIS (UPI)—Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign policy adviser, interrupted his third day of secret talks with North Vietnam officials today and conferred with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann on the progress of his private peace negotiations.

Both French and U.S. government officials confirmed that Kissinger interrupted his talks with Le Duc Tho, a member of the ruling North Vietnam Politburo, and Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, to talk with Schumann at a secret meeting place; their second meeting in three weeks.

Schumann then reported to French President Georges Pompidou on his conference with Kissinger. French officials said. What was said also remained secret—the only official word both in Washington and Saigon was that the peace talks have reached a "delicate" stage.

Exactly where and when—and what—Kissinger reported to the French government official was wrapped in mystery, as have been all of Kissinger's activities during his 19 trips to Paris to meet at secret hideaways with the North Vietnamese negotiators.

The only hard news in the Paris talks were that Kissinger and his deputy, Gen. Alexander Haig, Jr., fresh from a visit to Saigon and talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu were holding an unprecedented third day of talks today with the North Vietnamese. Kissinger was expected to fly back to Washington tonight.

The flurry of activity in Paris coincided with another 45-minute meeting in Saigon between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and President Thieu their second in five days. The talks were thought to include discussion of the Communist demands that Thieu be dumped as one price for a negotiated settlement of the war.

The French role in the current talks was not clear. France is host nation to the stalled peace talks. France has urged a negotiated settlement. And French policy since the days of Gen. Charles de Gaulle has been that the United States should learn a lesson from the French defeat in Indochina and pull out its troops.

TF man dies in mishap

TWIN FALLS — A second Twin Falls County man has died of traffic accident injuries in the Pocatello area.

The victim is identified as Charles W. Piggott, 28, Twin Falls. He was killed early Monday evening in a one-car roll over 13 miles south of Pocatello on Interstate 15.

Sunday evening a Buell truck driver, Ronald R. Johnston, 21, was killed in a truck accident on Interstate 15 near Pocatello.

State police reported Piggott was traveling alone in his small foreign automobile about 5:45 p.m. Monday when it left the pavement, traveled 300 feet along the shoulder of the highway, then rolled over throwing the driver out. Officials pronounced him dead at the accident scene.

Police said the highway was clear and dry at the time of the accident and the vehicle was traveling at a high rate of speed.

The death brings the state traffic toll to 261, compared to 245 at the same time a year ago.

In distress?

AMERICAN FLAG outside the Twin Falls County Courthouse shows the distress signal—in this case, perhaps, sadness that the man who normally takes care of it is on vacation.

Debate continues on antibusing bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate refused today to cut off debate on antibusing legislation, increasing chances that northern liberals may be able to talk the proposal to death.

Supporters of the measure, including southerners and some northerners, failed to muster the two-thirds vote needed to invoke cloture—the Senate's gag rule.

A second vote to choke off debate is scheduled for Wednesday—with the possibility of a third such vote Thursday if the second vote also fails.

It was widely believed the Dixie bloc had enough votes to pass the House-approved bill, which would virtually halt all longdistance busing of school children. But with final congressional adjournment possibly this weekend, the bill's backers may not get the chance to prove it unless they can stop the liberals from holding the floor against the bill.

Muskie letter 'forged'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Among the alleged acts of political sabotage against Democratic presidential candidates by President Nixon's campaign committee was one that led to Sen. Edmund Muskie's crying incident in New Hampshire, according to the Washington Post.

"Law enforcement sources said that probably the best example of the sabotage was the fabrication—by a White House aide—of a letter to the editor of a New Hampshire newspaper alleging that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, condoned a racial slur on Americans of French-American descent as 'Canucks,'" the Post said.

The letter was published in the Manchester Union Leader Feb. 24, less than two weeks before the New Hampshire primary. It in part triggered Muskie's politically damaging 'crying speech' before the newspaper's office."

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester paper, told the Post that he believed it to be authentic, but had never been able to find the person who signed the letter, a Paul Morrison of Deerfield Beach, Fla.

The Post said Ken W. Clawson a former Post reporter who is now deputy director of White House communications, told a Post reporter Sept. 25 that he had written the letter, but now denies it.

Other acts of sabotage, according to the Post sources in the FBI and Justice Department, involved following members of Democratic candidates' families; forging letters and distributing them under the candidates' letterheads; leaking false and manufactured items to the press; throwing campaign schedules into disarray; seizing confidential campaign files and investigating the lives of dozens of Democratic campaign workers.

Kidnaped Burley man OK

BURLEY — A Burley man who told officers he was kidnaped from a Burley shopping center Monday was released unharmed in Boise Monday evening.

Ron R. Gipson told police in Boise that he was at the Overland Shopping Center, Burley, at about 12:30 p.m. Monday.

When Gipson got into his car, a man pointed a gun at him and told him to drive to Boise.

Boise Police Capt. Joe Locklear said Gipson told officers that after arrival in Boise the man forced him to drive around the city for about an hour, apparently looking for an address.

The man apparently was not able to locate the address and the pair stopped in a parking lot, where the abductor told Gipson to get out of the car, walk away and not look back.

Gipson immediately reported the incident to police in Boise. Capt. Locklear said there was no indication in the report filed with his department that Gipson had been mistreated by the man. Gipson did say, however, that his abductor took his wallet, containing about $65 and identification.

The man has been identified as being between 40 and 50 years of age, of apparent Spanish descent, six feet tall, weighing 187 pounds.

S. Viets squeeze Red units

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops rooted Viet Cong guerrillas from a hamlet only 15 miles north of Saigon and were moving to "surround" other Communist units outside the capital, military spokesmen said today.

Field reports said fighting flared today just outside Thanh Quy, a hamlet 10 miles north of the capital recaptured by government troops Monday. The Viet Cong's clandestine Liberation Radio said the Communists controlled 14 hamlets north of Saigon and a senior American adviser said today the claim was "accurate."

But the Saigon command said only three hamlets were under Communist control and that a fourth, Thanh Phuoc Khanh, about 15 miles from the capital, was reoccupied late Monday.

Court bars funds for private schools

By CHARLOTTE MOULTON WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court, acting in an Ohio case, today barred an unconstitutional any direct subsidies from state funds to parents of nonpublic school children.

The Court did not issue an opinion on the issue but the justices let stand a ruling of April 17 in which a special three-judge federal panel in Columbus struck down the Ohio plan as an "unconstitutional establishment of religion."

The Supreme court late last term banned state payments for salaries of parochial school teachers in Pennsylvania and

Rhode Island. The Ohio legislature enacted the direct student subsidy program after those rulings.

The law provided a minimum $800 per pupil allocation for public school students and a $90 payment for those in private schools.

The case was one of hundreds disposed of by the newly convened Court on its first decision day. The actions came in the form of a stream of orders either rejecting or accepting appeals submitted both last year and this.

In two cases, the Court refused to reconsider two decisions last year in which Justice William H. Rehnquist was asked to disqualify himself because he had served as a Justice Department official when they first originated.

One involved a ruling that an aide to Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, must testify before a Boston grand jury on a case involving the Pentagon Papers.

The other involved the Army's right to conduct secret surveillance of civilians. Rehnquist rejected both requests that he step aside so that the cases could be reassigned and decided without his vote.

In other major actions, the Court:

—Declined to reconsider a sweeping decision last term that held that the death penalty as now practiced in the states is unconstitutional "cruel and unusual punishment."

—Agreed to hear a claim by a group of black school children that Mississippi authorities are illegally supplying textbooks to private white academies set up to evade integration orders.

—Let stand state court rulings which declared the University of California could not fire black militant Angela Davis because she acknowledged openly she was a Communist.

—Rejected an appeal by two Mississippi officials from a ruling they were liable for damages stemming from the arrest and jailing of 163 Negroes who paraded in Natchez in 1965 without a permit.

—Let stand a series of appeals from lower court rulings involving state legislative reapportionment plans from Washington, North Carolina and Pennsylvania.

There was no comment by the Court in acting on the Ohio private school subsidy case except for the notation that Justice Byron R. White favored hearing arguments on the issue.

Death not announced

MOSCOW (UPI) — She died as she lived, unknown to her nation's people. Yet her grave is more prestigiously placed than that of her famous father. Elena Nikitichna Khrushcheva, youngest daughter of former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, died July 14. She was 35.

Her death, cause unknown, was never announced in Soviet newspapers. Friends of the family did not mention it to western residents. Only a chance stroll in Moscow's Novodevichy (New Maiden) cemetery by this correspondent Monday disclosed she had died.

Elena was the youngest of Khrushchev's four daughters. She studied law and journalism and apparently never married.

Her grave is a few yards away from the grave of Stalin's wife, Nadezhda Alliluyeva, in the older, prestigious part of the cemetery. Moscow's most famous pantheon, after Red Square.

"Elena Nikitichna Khrushcheva 1937-1972"

Had Elena or her sisters or brother, even her mother, Nina Petrovna, walked across Red Square, hardly anyone would have recognized her.

The exception might have been a foreign newsman or diplomat who had seen Elena somewhere in Europe when she accompanied her father on his state visits.

The families and the private lives of Soviet leaders are virtually unknown to the Soviet public. After Khrushchev's death in September, 1971, it was learned that a distinguished American doctor, Prof. McGhee Harvey of Johns Hopkins University, secretly came to Moscow to treat Elena for a disease which could have been cancer.

Noise control receives boost

WASHINGTON, UPI — Legislation designed to soften the ear-splitting din of modern American life won a boost Monday from a coalition of labor, civil and medical groups.

The coalition, seeking to salvage a tough noise pollution bill from the congressional scrapheap as the legislative session neared its end, wrote every member of the Senate urging support for the strictest possible legislation.

Of the 80 million Americans adversely affected by noise, conservative estimates indicate potential hearing damage to 40 million, the letter said. "This does not include an additional 12 million workers who have incurred job-related hearing damage. Aside from hearing damage, other health effects from noise include loss of sleep, anxiety and interference with classroom learning and with normal conversation. Moreover, 15 million people, in virtually every city in the country, are adversely affected by aircraft noise."

The letter was signed by representatives of the AFL-CIO, the American Public Health Association, the Sierra Club, the American Bar Association, the National Council of Senior Citizens and the American Speech and Hearing Association, among others.

The object of their concern was an antinoise bill, given at best by Senate leaders, a "possible" chance for consideration before hoped-for final congressional adjournment this weekend.

It would empower the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to set strict noise level standards affecting eventually all the major noise-makers, from jetliners to vacuum cleaners and from jackhammers to snowmobiles.

Its most controversial section would take noise control authority over aircraft away from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and give the job to the EPA—thus shifting the emphasis in standard-setting from safety and technology to health and welfare.

R. Johnston

BURL — Ronald Rex Johnston, 21, died early Sunday in a truck accident four miles south of Pocatello on Interstate 15.

He was born June 27, 1951, in Twin Falls and was graduated from the Buhl High School in 1969. He worked as a truck driver for Wayne Bower. After serving four months active duty with the National Guard at Ft. Knox, Ky., he returned to Buhl and was employed by Flat Peterson, Castleford, until beginning work as a driver for Cady Auto Co., Hagerman.

On Nov. 1, 1971, he married Paula Kohl in Twin Falls. Mr. Johnston belonged to the LDS church and Troop A, 116th Armored Cavalry, Idaho National Guard.

Survivors include, in addition to his widow, one daughter, Kerrie Johnston, Buhl; his father, Ted Johnston, Buhl; a step-mother, Mrs. Shirley Johnston; one brother, Danny Johnston, Buhl; two step-sisters, Nicki Johnston and Cindi Johnston, both Buhl; one step-brother, Randy Johnston, Buhl; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Palmer, Buhl, and a paternal grandfather, Arvil Johnston, Buhl.

His mother died in 1962. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Buhl LDS chapel. Friends may call at the Albertson-Dickard chapel today until 8 p.m. and Wednesday until noon. Military rites will be held at the Buhl Cemetery by Troop A, 116th Armored Cavalry, Idaho National Guard.

LEGAL NOTICE

OFFICIAL NOTICE
In accordance with applicable regulations of the Federal Highway Administration, Notice is hereby given that the Twin Falls Highway District has requested the Idaho Department of Highways' approval of the location and major design feature of the following described Federal Aid Highway Project:
Project 5-2713 (2)
Rock Creek Culvert
Fill and Channel Change
Twin Falls County

An opportunity for a combined location and design public hearing was given on this project. No requests were received and, therefore, no hearing was held. The project is located on mile south and one-third mile east of East Five Points in Twin Falls and would consist of construction of a large span pipe arch or multiple pipe culverts with trash rack, channel changes and fill across the Rock Creek Canyon on rd. 3700 North Road. Federal Aid funds would be used only for the pipe installation and backfill to support construction loads. The Highway District would complete the embankment base and surfacing of the roadway.

FAS (Federal Aid Secondary), Route No. 2713, is interrupted by the lack of a crossing from the Balanced Rock Recreation Area to a junction with US 30 east of Kimberly, Idaho. The road currently would serve the adjacent farm areas and industry and would be a portion of an east-west arterial road being improved by the Buhl, Filer and Twin Falls Highway Districts. This portion of FAS Route 2713 has been in the planning stage for many years. Right-of-way for the road was purchased by the Highway District in 1962 and fill material has been accepted since that time in anticipation of the culvert installation. Estimates would be required to construct the culvert headwalls and the channel change. The completed roadway would consist of two, 12-foot wide travel lanes with 8-foot paved shoulders. Information on this planned improvement is available at the Twin Falls Highway District office and Department of Highways Resident Engineer's office at Twin Falls.

Good luck follows Michigan candidate

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—A close friend of Republican Sen. Robert Griffin was reflecting recently on the senator's chances of winning a second term this year.

"One thing you should remember in analyzing the race," he said, "is that Bob has had a continual string of good luck in his political career."

"Now, I know that any politician makes some of his luck. And there's no doubt Bob's a very shrewd, very knowledgeable politician. But there is a factor there, a lucky star or something, that seems to be watching over him."

If Griffin does win, his "lucky star" should share the credit again. He faces a very real threat from Democratic Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, 47, a highly popular figure in his fifth term who won by 750,000 votes in 1970.

But Griffin has been in trouble before and survived. —In 1956 he was a 32-year-old lawyer from Traverse City itching to run for public office. He and the man who was the county chairman, now Gov. William G. Milliken, decided one of them should run for Congress. Griffin was finally the mutual choice. He won because the original favorite dropped out and the incumbent, Ruth Thompson, was hurt by a row over the location of an Air Force base in the district.

—In 1966, after being dissuaded in 1960, '62 and '64 from making statewide runs that later events showed would have been disastrous, he decided to run for the Senate in what looked like a tough fight against incumbent Democrat "Pat" McNamara. Barely two weeks later McNamara dropped dead and then Gov. George Romney named Griffin to the Senate vacancy. The Democrats followed by slicing themselves up in a primary fight between former Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. Griffin rode Romney's coattails to a 300,000 vote win over Williams.

Griffin's lucky star this year has been the busing issue, which has partially blunted the strong appeal Democrats normally have for the state's huge union membership on economic issues. In addition, President Nixon, who lost Michigan in 1960 and 1968, is expected to carry its 21 electoral votes. —Still, Griffin faces a Democratic party united behind Kelley, who has been pointing for this race for at least four years and who had to talk his party out of capitalizing on his popularity by running him for Governor in 1970.

Both candidates had reputations as moderate liberals before busing burst upon the Michigan scene. Griffin had favored busing for southern schools and Kelley had signed a party manifesto partially endorsing it.

First to switch was Griffin, who introduced a constitutional amendment to ban any busing for racial purposes. Kelley led the state's fight against a federal judge's order to desegregate the school districts of Detroit and 52 suburban districts and has blunted much of Griffin's earlier advantage on that issue.

Griffin has roughly twice as much campaign money as Kelley, but Kelley has the United Auto Workers—a proven vote producer in the auto state—in his corner.

Kelley has been active in the consumer and environmental fields as attorney general and is stressing such bread and butter issues as health care, inflation and improved old age benefits.

The only public statewide poll, commissioned by the Detroit News, showed Griffin leading Kelley 42 per cent to 38 per cent in its most recent tabulation. But neither side is giving these figures too much weight.

"For one thing, Griffin didn't go up between the last two polls," explained one veteran party technician. "There's still 22 per cent undecided. That hasn't started to break either way and until it does, the polls don't mean much in a close race like this."

Democrats believe the state's traditionally Democratic union population will fall in line behind Kelley and the rest of the ticket even if it defects to Nixon on the top.

Republicans are hoping that Griffin's incumbency, his leadership position in the Senate, his busing stance and perhaps the President's coattails will produce a victory. And they wouldn't refuse a little help from his lucky star.

Frazier named chairman

TWIN FALLS — Fred M. Frazier has been appointed chairman of the board of Sierra Life Insurance Co.

He succeeds L. L. Gardner, who has served as chairman of the board since the firm's inception in 1958 as Syringa Life Insurance Co. He will remain with Sierra as a member of the advisory board.

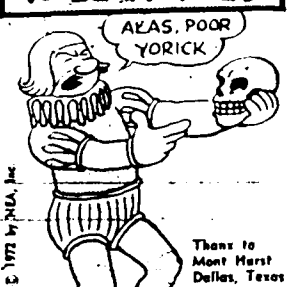

Frazier has served as president and a director of the company since 1958. He will also continue to serve as president, company officials said Monday.

Robert R. Nunneley, treasurer and assistant secretary of the company, will fill the vacancy on the board of directors. He has been with Sierra since 1964, advancing from policy service department manager.

Following a directors' meeting Oct. 6, Gardner was honored at a luncheon recognizing both his retirement as the firm's first chairman of the board of directors and his 67th birthday anniversary.

The Amazing Decline of McGovern

BOSTON — The amazing liberalism was exposed to an warning from a trusted decline of Sen. George McGovern in this bastion of Kennedy recently with this President Nixon may well carry Massachusetts Nov. 7.

A Nixon victory in Ted Kennedy's front yard the adviser continued, would not enhance Ted Kennedy's national prestige, so, he concluded, perhaps Kennedy should push harder for McGovern in Massachusetts.

Kennedy shrugged off the gloomy forecast, incredulous that Mr. Nixon should carry a state which thoroughly thrashed him in 1960 and 1968. Although he has solicited McGovern money contributions since then, Kennedy has not markedly intensified his efforts to sell McGovern to the state's voters.

The incident underscores the strange political scene in Massachusetts today. Though this is McGovern's strongest state, he trails today and, at best, can win it narrowly. What he needs is more aggressive vocal support not only from Kennedy but all the state's regular Democratic leaders. But McGovern's dedicated true believers, resenting the unlightened regulars, want the campaign to themselves here as elsewhere.

All available polling evidence indicates that the situation today is much worse than the state's Democratic politicians can bring themselves to believe.

A telephone poll last week in the Congressional district northeast of Boston represented by liberal Democratic Rep. Michael Harrington, carried against Mr. Nixon in 1968 by 24.5 percentage points, shows the President leading, 2 to 1.

Having long ago written off Massachusetts, the White House last week reversed course. A Nixon staff committee privately recommended that the President visit here in response to requests from Gov. Francis Sargent and Sen. Edward Brooke. That such liberal Republicans genuinely want Mr. Nixon reflects the states new political reality (though Massachusetts Republicans are still apprehensive about Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's forthcoming visit).

How did McGovern slide so badly from his overwhelming victory in the April 25 Massachusetts Presidential primary? We reported from here April 20 that blue-collar workers supported McGovern despite basic disagreement with him on social issues but that the balloon might burst when these voters became aware of his views. With Mr. Nixon well ahead today in blue-collar areas, the balloon has burst.

Columbus

If Columbus had not crossed the stormy ocean in what would be considered toy ships today, someone else would have done so, but perhaps not for many years.

Some historians and archeologists are convinced other explorers, probably from Scandinavian countries, were here before Columbus. But they seem to have kept their trips a well-guarded secret.

At the time Columbus lived people laughed at the idea that there was an unknown continent across the sea. Many obstacles had to be overcome by Columbus before he sailed, not the least of which were financial.

But if it had not been for the skill, knowledge and experience of Columbus, discovery of the North American continent would have been delayed, and the world's progress and development might have been postponed as a consequence.

What might have been, if Columbus had not made his voyage when he did, is in the realm of conjecture. But there can be no doubt that he was one of the world's great men, and that he started one of the principal movements of human progress.

Columbus opened up new opportunities, which made great advances in science, education and human welfare possible. The course of history was tremendously affected by the persistence and indomitable courage he showed when he crossed a stormy sea, beset by every terror that human imagination could conceive.

Recovery Gains

Last year when the Smithsonian agreement effected a devaluation of the United States dollar, it was widely estimated that it might take two more years to turn the heavy deficit the U.S. was running in its international accounts around. Many estimates now are that it will require three years.

This is not to say the deficit has worsened in the last 10 months. Many economists now believe the worst is over for the dollar and 1973 will bring a sharp recovery in international accounts.

What the earlier estimate missed was the factor the U. S. domestic economy was expanding faster than Europe's. This pressure kept imports up and exports down. Europe is reviving at a faster pace now, a good sign for American exports and trade balances as well.

Sanctuary?

Everyone has moments when he simply wants to get away by himself for awhile. Maybe it is only to a secluded room to read or knit, or perhaps to a workshop to relax the mind and spirit by working with the hands. A few individuals occasionally search the ends of the earth for seclusion of a far grander scale.

Even the most remote outpost isn't anymore. There may be a few islands in the South Pacific where solitude is still a way of life. But don't bet on how long they will remain in that happy state. If inaccessible Nepal can be put on anybody's jet schedules, the hermit has run out of places to hide.

With the Himalayas on the north and think jungles on the south, Nepal until now was virtually impenetrable except to the most determined interloper. The sad news is that the Royal Nepalese Air Line has purchased its first jet transport. The tourist horde cannot be far behind.

MR. SPECTATOR

It Made Our Day

Every once in awhile something comes along that just makes our day. Such an event happened when we opened a letter from Elkhart, Kansas and found it to be from one O. W. Fuller.

He wrote to point out that different things in different parts of the country are different. Now, if you are following our train of thought, we would point out that he included two newspaper pictures — one from the Times-News of Sept. 11 and one from the Tri-State News of Elkhart, dated August 31.

But let Mr. Fuller take it from there:

"Different areas of our nation describe rains in different ways. The picture of cars (in your paper of Sept. 11) describes and shows them driving through maybe 4 inches of water on the street on Second Street North after a (quote) hard down pour (unquote). You recorded .37 of an inch of rain.

"The other picture is from our Tri-State News. We received 6.75 inches of rain in some three hours. The water on the street was two feet deep. Our paper also described the rain as (quote) heavy (unquote).

"Really, though, we do enjoy the Times-News, especially Mr. Spectator. I was well tickled when you published the letter from Mrs. Keith Anderson of Shoshone about the goof on a recipe. The clipping was given to many people back here and they all had a good laugh. It went to a Sunday school class, a W.S.C.S. group meeting and another club meeting, just to point out a few

"We need more like Mr. Spectator and Mrs. Anderson to give us something on the lighter side every now and then. I'm glad I'm a subscriber."

THE POSTAL BOYS

Say what you will about the Postat Service the boys are in there with new ideas.

Last month, for the first time in history, an entire U. S. postoffice was airmailed to its permanent location.

With sealed up airmail postage affixed to one side, a rural post office module was placed aboard a Lockheed Hercules operated by Alaska International Airways and flown northward from Fairbanks to Kaktovic on the Arctic Ocean. It was the first of 10 new post offices being installed in remote Alaskan villages this year.

Only question is, how are philatelists going to get those oversized stamps into their albums?

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

When we were borrowing customs from older cultures, who was the idiot who passed up the siesta?

Country Clubs?

WASHINGTON — Citizens of both sexes who can't afford household help because their taxes are too high should pack up their dirty dishes and ship them to Congress after that appalling Senate vote designed to turn military bases into country clubs.

The Senate, whose Democratic majority whimpers daily about President Nixon's defense budget, voted 69 to 11 against deleting from the Pentagon's money bill $60-million earmarked to end kitchen police in the Army by hiring civilians to clean up after meals. Eventually, this curious program will cost do-it-themselves taxpayers $275-million a year.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., made a valiant effort to kill the appropriation. Sounding like a man who occasionally has labored over a sink or waved a broom at a floor, Proxmire asked "Why should taxpayers do KP duty at home, but it is beneath the dignity of enlisted men? What kind of a nambypamby military are we going to have if they can't get their hands dirty on KP duty?"

The Army wants the household money because it claims more time is needed for "serious training," and "to make volunteering for the armed services more attractive."

That's blatant flummery, of course. What would be volunteers want is more pay, not maid service, and anyway KP has always been properly considered necessary as a course in sanitation aimed at avoiding epidemics of ptomaine poisoning in the field.

But as usual, there's a political gimmick involved. It was unveiled by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I. Aware that this is an election year, Pastore pointed out unashamedly that ending KP for GIs would create jobs for — you guessed it — minority groups.

Proxmire was unmoved by Pastore's vote-seeking argument that ending the program would throw a lot of people on relief. "Are we going to use the military as a gigantic WPA?" asked Proxmire.

The answer, as Proxmire knew, is yes — on account of the Pentagon budget is a political thing, manipulated as much as possible to give aid and comfort to those members of Congress, mostly Democrats, who are seeking reelection.

These considerations entered into the Senate's 70 to 5 vote to pass a $74.6-billion defense budget, the largest since World War II. Proxmire, incidentally, was not one of the five who voted against the bill, which shows that when the crunch comes the gentleman from Wisconsin can discern political reality, too. Proxmire was not about to overlook the interests of certain Democratic cronies with defense plants in their states.

For instance, the Senate restored $127-million, cut by the House, for the purchase of three 747 jumbo jets to be used as airborne command posts by the President and military brass in event of a nuclear attack. The planes will be built by the Boeing Company of Seattle, represented by Democratic Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry Jackson. It also restored $101-million to buy 30 F-15 fighter planes from the McDonnell Douglas Corp. of St. Louis, thus taking care of Sens. Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton, Democrats from Missouri.

As a Republican, Sen. John

Tower of Texas was not so lucky. The Senate deleted $48-million for continued production of the Navy's A-7-D fighter-bomber by Ling-Temco-Vought in Dallas.

Well, ladies and gentlemen and mixed-up kids, the polls are not infallible, as George McGovern showed in the primaries, but they are probably right on the button in reporting that most American voters perceive the art of politics as an untidy and self-serving, if not corrupt, racket. Despite the hullabaloo raised by its antiwar activists, the Democratic majority votes with the generals and admirals when the chips are down.

Incidentally, the man who has promised to cut the Pentagon budget by 40 per cent was NOT among the Senators who voted "no" on the big appropriation bill. George McGovern also had other fish to fry.

RAY CROMLEY

Little Racism

WASHINGTON — Research now suggests Governor George Wallace's showing at the polls has wider implications than some political scientists have been willing to think about.

Some of these studies indicate

The role of antiblack attitudes in the selection of Wallace has been exaggerated beyond proper proportions. Speaking more generally, the influence of racial prejudice on electoral decisions has been overemphasized. Seymour M. Lipset, of Harvard University and Earl Raab report that "over half of the Wallace supporters are not willing to say that the progress of Negroes has been too fast."

J. Michael Ross of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Thomas F. Pettigrew and Reeve D. Vanneman, of Harvard, making a special study of the northern voter, report that those with strong racial feelings were only slightly (10 per cent) more likely to give Wallace a high rating. Furthermore, polls have indicated that the net gain for Wallace does not indicate that widespread "defection" of Democrats and Independents in the urban North can be specifically attributed to racially motivated discontent with federal integration policies under Democratic administrations.

Curiously, Ross, Pettigrew and Vanneman say their analysis of the opinion polls suggest to them that racially discontented voters prefer Richard Nixon over Wallace, and that this pattern becomes stronger at higher educational levels.

Wallace's appeal extends much further into the middle class than predicted, though stress by many writers on the low educational level of many Wallace supporters has obscured that fact.

Actually, Ross, Pettigrew and Vanneman report that the Wallace phenomenon "as a dynamic process tends to find new support among the more active participants from the middle of the class hierarchy rather than (among) its most disadvantaged and apathetic members."

Wallace's support has been heavily dependent on a specific issue — the problem of order in an urban society. Richard M. Scammon and Ben J. Wattenburg, in describing the Wallace phenomenon, claim that the "social issue" has replaced traditional economic concerns and voters are now primarily influenced by fear and anxiety about the deteriorating fabric of American society, as demonstrated in urban riots, campus unrest, and drugs.

Some researchers seem to suggest that a part of the Wallace vote at least is a rearward action led by groups who seek to stem the direction of change through political means.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Vaccinations

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that the chance of death from smallpox vaccine is greater than the chance of contracting the disease.

I have put off having my 10-month-old son vaccinated for that reason. Our pediatrician does not give a personal opinion but says it is entirely our decision. I don't have enough information to make a wise decision. Can you help? Is the vaccination harder on an adult or older child than for an infant? — Mrs. K. D.

Here's the background. Well, within my lifetime we were still having smallpox epidemics. By virtually universal vaccination, we have reached the point at which smallpox is virtually unknown in this country.

It is true that a few individuals have a severe reaction from the vaccine and some of them die. The number is small — a few in many millions. But it is a fact that vaccinating is a greater risk — NOW — than the risk of encountering the disease, because the amount of smallpox here is very close to zero today.

The success of giving up vaccinating for smallpox will rest, I would judge, on our success in eradicating the disease everywhere else in the world.

If, a few decades from now, most of our young people were without vaccination, and then the disease crept in from somewhere, from anywhere, new epidemics would be possible.

Can we achieve a smallpox-free world? Let us hope so. I dare say that it will take 10 to 25 years before we will be able to judge what the future holds. I presume also that, if we did find smallpox creeping in, we would resort once more to vaccination — and in a hurry. We could, I trust, manage to stop the spread before it became too disastrous.

The long-term wisdom of giving up vaccination depends, therefore, on what happens in the future.

Present policy is to make vaccination optional instead of mandatory.

However, smallpox vaccination remains mandatory for travelers coming from parts of the world where smallpox still is known to exist. It is, as your pediatrician says, up to you to decide.

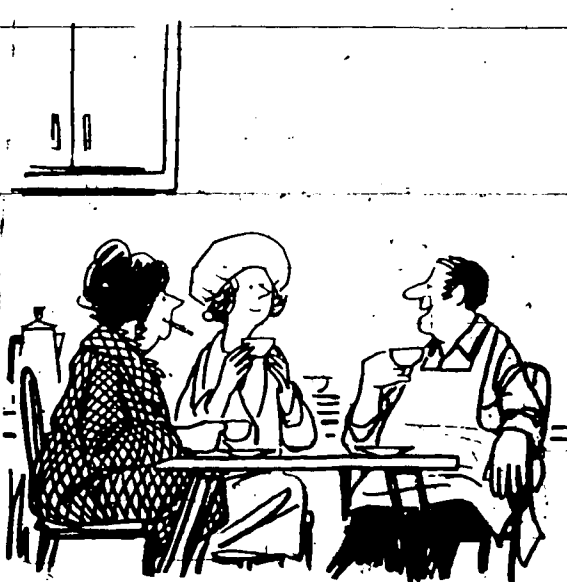

For the few who may lose a child from vaccination, there can be adequate consolation. For the many who decide to vaccinate and all goes well, there is no harm done. And if — in some future year, smallpox begins to return, there will be thankfulness on the part of those who have been vaccinated.

There is, you see, no way, now, to be certain of what the future holds, but the decision to stop mandatory vaccination was thought out carefully and not made lightly.

As for me, I may be overly conservative, but if I had healthy young children now, I would have them vaccinated as a precaution against what the future may hold. That's just my opinion.

I cannot criticize anyone who decides not to have it done. And I am sure that the smallpox situation will be very closely watched in the years to come, to take instant protective measures if there are signs of resurgent danger.

BERRY'S WORLD

"It all started, girls, when I realized that there is more to life than a career, and began groping for something meaningful to do with my time."

McGovern needs 'miracle'

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, says Monday it will take "a miracle" to elect Sen. George S. McGovern president, but added that miracles are possible.

Speaking to about 300 students at the University of Pittsburgh, Church said it "will take a sort of political miracle for Sen. McGovern to win."

"But miracles are possible. They sometimes happen. Look what happened to Harry Truman in 1948."

Church was one of 20 Democratic senators campaigning on behalf of the national ticket on the fourth anniversary of President Nixon's statement: "Those who have had a chance for four years and could not produce peace should not be given another chance."

Terming Nixon the "whirling dervish of American politics," Church defended McGovern's welfare plan and modified tax-reform proposals.

"The man (Nixon) who promised a balanced budget gave us a $100 billion deficit instead; the man who didn't want wage-price controls involved them; and the man who campaigned to preserve the value of American money devalued the dollar," he said.

Jordan proposes spending ceiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. Len Jordan has introduced an amendment to the debt limit bill providing for reduction of all irreducible appropriations above the President's requested spending ceiling of $250 billion.

Jordan, a Republican, said Monday, "I approve of the proposed spending ceiling, but I do not approve abdication of appropriate powers of Congress to the President."

He said before applying the proportionate reduction to the ceiling figure, his amendment would eliminate three categories of "irreducible appropriations" — Payments from the social insurance trust funds, including Medicare, unemployment compensation and Social Security; — Payments of interest on the National debt;

— And, expenditures for veterans' pensions, education and hospitalization.

Pupils to see fire engines

TWIN FALLS — Children in the Twin Falls elementary schools will have an opportunity this week to become acquainted with the city's fire fighters and inspect fire engines.

Each of the grade schools will be visited this week for a demonstration of the ladder truck, a movie and a question and answer session with firemen about fire prevention.

This is part of the Twin Falls Fire Department's annual Fire Prevention Week observance.

Equipment visited Lincoln School Monday, and today will be at Washington School. Other visits during the week include Morningside school at 9 a.m. Wednesday; Bickel, 1:30 p.m. Thursday; Lutheran School 2:30 p.m. Friday, with the Harrison School at 1 p.m. Monday and the Seventh Day Adventist School at 9:45 a.m. Oct. 19.

Children selected as essay contest winners from each of the rooms in the elementary schools will be guests of the fire department Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the fire station.

In addition to an opportunity to visit the fire station, the winners will be served cake and ice cream.

Mine donations pass $112,000

BOISE (UPI) — A $10,000 contribution by a New York firm has put the education fund for children of the Sunshine Mine disaster victims past the $112,000 mark, according to Trustee H. F. Magnuson.

Magnuson said the latest contribution came from Lybrand, Ross Bros. and Montgomery. He said contributions are continuing to come in from throughout the nation.

TF burglars get $5,775 in goods

TWIN FALLS — City police in Twin Falls are investigating an apartment burglary which netted thieves household goods valued at $5,775.

Officers said the apartment of Duane Ardohain and Robert Bollin, 228 Third Ave. N., was entered between Oct. 3 and Oct. 6. The burglary was reported after the owners returned home Monday.

Missing are chain saws, a gun, 250 stereo records, 150 stereo tapes, four leather jackets, a 25-inch color television, stereo speakers and other items.

Officers said a basement door had been forced open. The owners said both the basement door and the back door of the apartment were open when they returned home.

Flood help asked

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Gov. Linwood Holton has asked President Nixon to declare 38 Virginia counties and 16 towns struck by flooding disaster areas.

Holton Monday estimated damage from the flooding that started Thursday after heavy autumn rains at $19 million.

Six persons were known dead. A search was continued at the town of Emporia for Mayor George F. Lee who was presumed dead after he was swept away by flood waters from the Meherrin river Saturday night.

Hardest hit by the flooding was the Civil War battle site of Petersburg 25 miles south of Richmond, where the Appomattox River overflowed its banks and flooded the town's historic Old Market district. Businessmen Monday began the task of scraping mud and silt from their buildings and wares.

McGovern sets war-end plan

DETROIT (UPI)—George S. McGovern goes on national television tonight to tell American voters, point by point, how he would end the Vietnam conflict and warns that the re-election of President Nixon means "four more years of senseless war."

Dismissal prospects of an imminent settlement and the current peace rumors, McGovern plans to tell the nation how he would, if elected, withdraw all U.S. forces from Indochina and free the prisoners-of-war within 90 days of his inauguration.

McGovern's half-hour address, taped at the Capitol in Washington Sunday, will not include announcement of any dramatic news moves.

Instead, aides said, the speech will be a "more pointed" step by step outline of what McGovern would do, beginning with his decision to stop the bombing as soon as he is sworn-in to office.

McGovern's campaign received bad news when word was passed around that the latest Harris Poll, still to be released, showed him 27 points behind Nixon—a gain of only one point since the last polling period.

McGovern will watch the program in his hotel suite in Chicago after campaigning early in the day in Michigan with a rally for United Auto Workers (UAW) retirees in Detroit and a second rally at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

He also planned to hold closed-door meetings with the editors of the Booth papers and the editorial board of the Detroit Free Press.

The half-hour television program, (7:30 p.m. EDT) the first in a series McGovern plans to present on the issues, was to be seen on most CBS stations and many other outlets purchased by his camp. The estimated cost is $110,000.

McGovern waves in New York City

Nixon sets mandate as highest priority

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although he generally supports Republican candidates for Congress, President Nixon is more concerned with rolling up an impressive margin of victory over Sen. George S. McGovern than he is in helping the GOP capture control of the Senate and House.

The President will concentrate his personal campaigning on states he considers battlegrounds in the presidential contest, even if that means skipping over states with close senatorial races where a visit from the President could be decisive.

White House Communications Director Herbert G. Klein, outlined Nixon's strategy for the final month of the election campaign to a small group of newsmen Monday. The pattern of the President's effort emerged from that interview and from earlier comments by administration officials.

Klein said Nixon will increase the pace of his campaign after Congress adjourns for the year, perhaps this weekend. But he said the President will not mount a full campaign until the final week before the Nov. 7 election, if then.

Nixon is scheduled to make a one-day trip to Atlanta Thursday, his only scheduled campaign trip in two weeks.

Klein said Nixon would be on the road "substantially less" than in 1970 when although he was not a candidate he traveled the nation on behalf of Republican aspirants for Congress. In 1970 Nixon campaigned mostly on weekends before finishing with a coast-to-coast blitz in the final 10 days before the election.

Nixon's objective for Nov. 7 is to win an overwhelming victory that would shock Congress into approving his legislative programs and perhaps convince some conservative congressional Democrats to switch to the Republican party.

The Nixon strategy does not include a crash effort to capture control of the Senate or House by defeating Democratic incumbents. The "new American majority" has a place for ticket-splitting Democrats.

"It is true that we are trying to broaden the base of our support," Klein said. "We want to make it as easy as possible for people who are not Republicans to vote for the President."

Klein said the White House would consider the election a Nixon landslide if the President defeats his Democratic opponent by an overwhelming margin even if the Republicans do not capture either house of the Congress.

"I am sure at some point he'll urge the election of a Republican House and Senate," Klein said. "He won't do that in every speech."

Newsman still silent

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Reporter Peter Bridge said Monday he will refuse to give confidential information to a county grand jury no matter how long he remains in jail.

Bridge, 36, began serving an indefinite term in Essex County Jail last Wednesday for refusing to answer questions asked by the grand jury.

The jailing of Bridge was defended Monday by Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III. He told newsmen in New London, Conn., that he felt it was "justly deserved."

He said he feels anyone, regardless of professional ethics, should answer a grand jury inquiry. Someone's profession "in no way frees that person of a citizen's responsibilities," Gray said.

Bridge told an interviewer Monday that jail guards treat him like a "celebrity." He said they often come up and shake his hands and have indicated their support. "I know I'll never have trouble with sources again," he said. "They know I'll go to jail." He said his stay was a fight for the rights of all newsmen to protect their confidential sources.

Bridge, a former reporter for the defunct Newark Evening News, said he has not adjusted to jail life, but is prepared to stay as long as necessary. "I won't give up the ghost of this principle," He said he is "even more resolute if anything that I'm absolutely right in what I'm doing. I am not here for me. I am in jail representing the press."

Bridge was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Curtis Meanor to stay in jail until he answers five questions asked by the grand jury or until the panel's term expires. The grand jury is due to complete its term Oct. 30, but technically could be extended.

Meat receipts found in grave

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—Two pink meat receipts allegedly signed by Juan Corona, accused slayer of 25 itinerant farm workers, were found in the third grave dug up by sheriff's deputies in 1971.

The prosecution also contends that bank deposit slips stamped with Corona's name were found in another grave, and yet another grave contained a broken glass candleholder matching one found in a cookshack used by Corona.

The Corona trial resumes today after a three-day recess and the prosecution is expected to produce testimony describing the discovery of the meat receipts in its attempt to link the husky farm labor contractor with the slayings.

All but two of the 25 hacked bodies were found on the Jack Sullivan ranch north of Yuba City, Calif. The others were discovered on surrounding farms.

Jury deadlocked

NEW YORK (UPI)—The third federal perjury trial of financier Louis E. Wolfson ended in a hung jury Monday when the panel of eight men and four women said they were hopelessly deadlocked after four days of deliberations.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Gary Naftalis said he could not immediately comment on whether Wolfson, 60, would be tried a fourth time. He was charged with lying before a 1964

Securities and Exchange Commission investigation into alleged stock manipulation. Wolfson also was accused of falsifying an annual corporate report.

In 1966, Wolfson was convicted of selling $3.5 million in unregistered stock, thereby causing heavy losses to public investors. He served nine months of a one-year federal prison term.

Manson moved

FOLSOM, Calif. (UPI)—Charles Manson, convicted murderer in the 1969 Tate-Labianca slaying, has been moved to Folsom prison adjustment center from San Quentin's death row, on its way to abolition with the outlawing of capital punishment.

The adjustment center at Folsom is a maximum security facility and "a place for people who need protection from other inmates," administrative officer John Ahern said Monday. "We haven't heard a word out of him," Ahern said. Manson was one of the last prisoners on death row, and was transferred Friday.

Released

RALPH GINZBURG, shown in 1969 photo, the New York publisher who said his 1963 obscenity conviction stemmed from "mass guilt feelings over sex," was scheduled to be released today from federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa. Ginzburg, 42, served eight months of a three-year sentence for sending obscene material through the mail. (UPI)

Conviction overturned

TEXARKANA, Tex. (UPI)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday overturned the contempt of court conviction of Texarkana Gazette editor Harry Wood, who published a trial verdict against a judge's order. "I thought it was an excellent ruling," Wood said. "It upheld the people's right to know and confirmed that public information is protected by the First Amendment."

IEA critical of revenue sharing act

Gem state news

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for the Idaho Education Association says his group is critical of the Federal Revenue Sharing Act because the funds cannot be used for public schools.

IEA Executive Secretary Wayne York, Boise, said Monday, "Education apparently is not a priority of Congress or the Nixon administration, and neither state nor local revenue-sharing funds may be used for the public schools."

The first of Idaho's share of funds is expected to arrive this month.

High priority expenditures are in areas of transportation, safety, sanitation and environmental protection.

York said many eastern cities have city councils which have final control of school budgets, and some revenue-sharing money may find its way into school building construction — not general school funding.

He further said western states are discriminated against and education is omitted in the expenditure of $5.3 billion in federal revenue-sharing funds.

York said many cities and counties in Idaho "have no plans for the funds and much of it could end up in more buildings instead of human and people programs."

He said there must be one priority in the 1973 legislature — "a substantial increase in state funding of public school education."

IF man faces charges

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — A 23-year-old Idaho Falls man was to be arraigned today on charges of assault with a deadly weapon following an incident at a local pizza parlor Monday night.

A tense situation at Chauncey's Pizza ended about 9:50 p.m. when a man identified as Joseph Mullins was apprehended by police after he allegedly threatened customers with a mototov cocktail and a gun.

Shortly before 8 p.m., Mullins reportedly entered the establishment brandishing the firebomb and a 357-magnum pistol and ordered all persons outside. Police arrived along with state troopers, sheriff's deputies and firemen.

Power company officials extinguished lights in the building and after a two-hour wait, Mullins' younger brother, John, 21, went inside to talk with the man. He said later Mullins indicated he "would shoot anyone else who entered."

The younger brother and a friend calmed the man. John Mullins then ran outside with his brother's gun. Police swept inside and took the man into custody.

He was to be arraigned before Magistrate William Black.

EPA considers moratorium

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (UPI) — The regional administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency says a complete strip-mining moratorium for Interior Department lands in the West is being considered.

Jack Green of the EPA Denver office is in favor of such a moratorium. He said it would enable his agency to take more time checking out mining applications and make environmental evaluations. But he would not go beyond saying the EPA is discussing the matter with interior officials.

He was in Great Falls Monday making a tour of the area. Recently, the Montana state director for the Bureau of Land Management, which is under the Interior Department, said such a coal mining moratorium would affect 435,000 acres of land in Montana.

Ed Zaidicz of Billings, Mont., said he had read the initial Newsweek Magazine article.

He said, however, there has been no such order handed down from BLM headquarters yet.

BLM sources in Montana did indicate Monday that the news magazine's story was extremely accurate regarding everything up to the actual moratorium, and expressed some surprise at the depth of the article.

Hopefuls go to North Idaho

By United Press International Idaho candidates for federal offices are concentrating their campaign efforts on northern Idaho today, talking about unemployment and other issues.

William E. "Bud" Davis, a Democratic U. S. Senate nominee, said it was foolish to let environmental projects "go undone" while thousands of Idaho young people remain unemployed during summer.

At the University of Idaho Monday, the Pocatello candidate called for creation of an environmental corps, based on the Civilian Conservation Corps idea of the 1930's.

Ed Williams, a Meridian Democrat running for First District congressman, accused his opponent, Steve Symms, of advocating leasing the University of Idaho schools of forestry and mines to Weyerhaeuser and Anaconda Corps.

Williams charged him with making "an irrational statement, showing a considerable lack of sensible thinking," following a videotaped debate in Moscow.

Williams said "releasing" higher education into the hands of private enterprise cannot insure an adequate education, because "private enterprise would upset the balance between 'learning to live' and 'learning to make money.'"

Symms, meanwhile, told Caldwell supporters Idahoans do not want "the kind of welfare state proposed by the McGovern-Williams ticket."

He said, "Idahoans are independent and hard-working. They don't want welfare handouts. What they do want is an opportunity to make a fair day's pay for a fair day's work."

In Lewiston, Republican Senate nominee James McClure, characterized an article by columnist Jack Anderson on the effectiveness of various congressional members as "another round in a well-planned battle of the liberals to protect their interests."

Anderson placed McClure on his "strikeout king" list. McClure retorted, "The only way to be on Anderson's good list is to be a liberal, with seniority." Robert E. Smylie, chairman of Idaho Community Leaders for the Re-election of the President, said Monday Americans voting in November have "a clearer choice than in any other election this century for the office of president."

Love of trains costly

LONDON (UPI) — Alan Pegler's love for an old steam locomotive cost him his fortune. Pegler, 50, returned to England Sunday and filed a bankruptcy petition after touring America with his beloved "Flying Scotsman," one of Britain's last steam trains. In 1963 he paid $7,500 for the 46-year-old locomotive and its eight cars to save it from the scrap heap. Then he took it on a 12,000-mile tour of the United States. Pegler, who inherited a fortune from his family's rubber and plastics business, said he had hoped to turn the train into a rolling exhibition for British goods and tourism. But he said he lost $1.8 million on the tour because he could not sell exhibition space on the train. "My love for that engine has ruined me financially," Pegler said as his daughter, Penny, 19, tearfully embraced him when he arrived by ship in Southampton. "The Americans were tremendously impressed," he said. "But our exporters and the British tourist authorities failed to realize the potential and I did not get the backing I anticipated. I filed my petition in bankruptcy because it seemed sensible and logical," Pegler said. "Some people (creditors) have been waiting two or three years for their money and I cannot keep them on a string forever." He declined to disclose the total extent of his debts. He will face a bankruptcy hearing in London Oct. 31. Pegler still owns the Flying Scotsman, now in storage at an army base in California. He expressed the belief the old train will one day restore his fortune. "I'm sure my problems will be solved and I shall run the Flying Scotsman again," he said. Hells Canyon of the Snake River, cutting through Idaho and Oregon, is the deepest and widest gorge on the North American continent, says the American Automobile Association.

Hughes said on 'hush-up' trip

MIAMI (UPI)—Billionaire-recluse Howard Hughes now wears a chestlength beard, shoulder-length hair and has curling two-inch toenails, according to a yacht captain who said he transported Hughes in a predawn "hush-up" trip from the Bahamas to Florida last February.

Capt. Bob Rehak said in a copyrighted story in the Miami Herald Sunday that Hughes, 66, was carried on the yacht "Cygnus" on the stretcher, covered with a sheet and wearing only a bathrobe.

"The only thing they had was food and a couple of little satchels," said Rehak, 58.

"Mr. Hughes was still asleep and they rolled him into the pilot house. He'd wake up briefly, then go back to sleep, and he snored like a horse."

Hughes wound up paying $2,235 for the 220-mile voyage that took him and a five-man party to Miami from Nassau, where the Bahamian government decided he had overstayed his welcome after two years in the Britannia Hotel.

Hughes rented the Cygnus (Greek for "Swan") from Baltimore advertising executive Leon S. Golnik.

"It was all strict security, you know, a real hush-up thing," said Rehak.

Several hours after they departed Nassau, Rehak said Hughes awakened and was transferred from the pilothouse to a plush couch in the main lounge of the yacht. He remained on the couch until the voyage ended at a waterfront home on Miami's Key Biscayne in the pre dawn hours of Feb. 17.

"He had this real stringy beard, real thin, and it came down halfway to his waist. His hair was real fine, too, down over his shoulders, Rehak told the Herald.

"He stood up by himself and fumbled with his bathrobe, a regular old bathrobe...and that's when I first noticed his long toenails. They were so long they curled up. Never seen anything like that in my life. I had to look twice. Craziest thing I ever saw. He had on sandals.

"He was sort of thin, not real skinny, not starving to death, lots of wrinkles, as if he was in his 60s anyhow. Damn good health. Skin texture good," Rehak recalled.

"His hands seemed to me like they were doubled up in a way like if you had a bad case of arthritis or something. You know how people's hands are like that. He held his pencil kind of awkward, you know, not like I would hold it."

Except for the early hours of the trip, Rehak said Hughes stayed awake until the yacht docked at the home of Alan Stryd, a Hughes business associate, who lives on an island midway between Miami Beach and Miami in Biscayne Bay.

Rehak said Hughes constantly used boxes of tissue paper to wipe his chin, his face and nearly everything he touched.

US relaxes alert

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The expelling of Soviet forces from Egypt has led the United States to relax its intense aircraft carrier operations in the Mediterranean, Navy sources have reported.

Soviet reconnaissance planes made regular flights over the Mediterranean to keep track of the U.S. Sixth Fleet during the four-year period leading up to July 18, when Egyptian President Anwar Sadat ordered an estimated 15,000 Russians out of his country.

The U.S. Navy sources said Sunday that during the four-year period, American aircraft carriers in the eastern Mediterranean were always on the alert just short of a wartime footing.

But since the Russians and their reconnaissance planes have been sent home, the tempo of work has relaxed considerably for the Americans.

Beer hits drink

LONDON (UPI)—The crew of a Royal Navy ship drank as much of their cargo of 180,000 cans of beer as they liked, then dumped the rest into the sea.

The navy said the beer, worth about $33,300, was dumped into the North Sea recently because it was at least 10 months old.

A navy spokesman said the surplus beer was still drinkable but could have become undrinkable later aboard ships at sea.

The spokesman said the 184-member crew of the navy supply ship Lyness was told they could drink as much of the beer as they wanted before it was dumped overboard. He did not say how much they drank.

Benefits increase

GLENN'S FERRY — Reflecting a 20 per cent congressional increase monthly social security benefit payments rose to approximately $129,600 in 1972 for residents of Elmore County.

Guy, Shambaugh, social security district manager, Boise, said today that benefits during 1971 were approximately $108,000 per month.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Elmore County, 633 are retired workers and their dependents, another 256 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 131 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Panel approves spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $3.5 billion catchall money bill including $3 million to equip the Capitol and surrounding congressional office buildings with secret television cameras and other detection devices.

The appropriations measure, a supplemental bill which is the last to be acted on by the panel in anticipation of Congress adjourning by Saturday, would also provide $266.5 million more to aid victims of tropical storm Agnes.

The bill traditionally provides money for programs either left out of regular appropriation measures for agencies or which were not authorized when the regular money bills were approved.

Capitol Architect George M. White told the appropriations committee that it would take $3 million to provide the added security Congress asked for after the still unsolved bombing in the Senate wing on March 1, 1971.

White said the new system calls for installation of 104 secret closed circuit television cameras, 45 of them in the Capitol building and the rest in the surrounding Senate and House office buildings.

Additionally, there would be "movement detection" devices in remote corners where cameras could not see which would indicate on a master console that there was movement in an authorized area. Also, police would be equipped with X-ray like machines to check brief cases, purses, satchels or packages carried into the capitol, all of which are now searched by hand by police.

White estimated it would take up to two years to have the system in operation. The project is being carried out with advice from the Secret Service.

The measure sets aside for the Department of Housing and Urban Development $266.5 million more for urban renewal grants earmarked for communities devastated by tropical storm Agnes last June.

Abrams vote delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate has put off action on the nomination of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, who commanded U.S. forces in Vietnam for four years, to be Army chief of staff.

The Senate set the nomination aside Monday but approved the retirement of John S. McCain Jr., the former U.S. commander in the Pacific, at the rank of full admiral.

Both officers have been questioned about the unauthorized bombing raids over North Vietnam ordered last winter by Gen. John D. Lavelle, the commander of the Seventh Air Force in Southeast Asia.

There appeared little doubt that the Senate eventually would confirm Abrams. First, however, there will be Senate debate of the question of civilian authority over the military.

Shriver blasts Nixon

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Sargent Shriver attacked President Nixon's domestic record Monday night in an attempt to rouse enthusiasm and get the local Democratic machinery going for the final month of the presidential campaign.

Speaking to about 2,000 party regulars, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate emphasized the theme of a party based on the "little man" in this strong labor city, which Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace carried by a wide margin in the spring primary.

Nixon and John Connally say we should get accustomed to a 5.5 per cent unemployment rate," Shriver said. "We Democrats say that is never acceptable."

"If Johnny Connally and Nixon find the 5.5 per cent unemployment rate acceptable, we should put them in the unemployment lines."

Under the Nixon administration, he said, the unemployment rolls have risen to five million men and women, including 310,000 Vietnam veterans.

"Our country was never set up to have unemployment lines made up of returning veterans of war," Shriver said, adding that under a McGovern-Shriver administration "everyone who wants to work would get a job."

He charged that the President is not concerned about the "wage earner" but only interested in the directors of the Penn Central, IT&T and other major corporations.

Nixon supports the present tax system which allowed U.S. Steel to pay no taxes at all last year, while the wage earner has to pay the blunt of the tax," he said.

Shriver said Sen. George McGovern's modified tax-reform plan is the "most comprehensive and complete package ever presented."

"It is based on the theory that money made by money should be taxed at the same rate as money made by men."

He said Pennsylvania was considered a major disaster area when some 30,000 to 40,000 persons lost their homes in last June's flooding.

Loopholes lambasted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers said today a "business tax cut binge" in 1971 has contributed substantially to the federal government's budget deficits.

Abel said in remarks prepared for the annual taxation conference of the National Tax Association that there is an increasing inequity in the federal tax structure that has seen the corporate share of federal income tax collections drop from 35 per cent in 1960 to 25 per cent last year.

"The failure to close tax loopholes since 1969, plus the unjustified giveaways enacted last year further undermine the thin margin of equity that remains in the nation's tax structure," Abel said. "It has severely hampered the federal government's revenue-raising ability. It has led to a degree of taxpayer distrust and dissatisfaction that has ominous implications for the well-being of this nation."

Movie dual

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Paramount Pictures has formed a 50-50 partnership with Peter Bogdanovich, Francis Ford Coppola and William Friedkin to be known as "The Directors' Company" with the individuals to produce and direct a minimum of three films each over the next six years.

Agnew flays McGovern bid

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro Agnew took his hardest swipe of the campaign at George McGovern Monday night, challenging statements that the Democratic presidential candidate was a man "with an overriding concern to do what is morally right."

At a rally in solidly Republican Orange County, the vice president said it "escapes" him how the New York Times could praise the South Dakota Senator for having "respect for dissent and an overriding concern to do what is morally right." The Times used the words in an endorsement of McGovern.

"The senator reserves some of his choicest phrases for those who disagree with him," Agnew said. "When the Credentials Committee of the Democratic National Committee failed to resolve the California dispute as he wished, he called their actions an 'incredible rotten stinking political steal.'"

And, Agnew told a packed audience of about 5,000, McGovern finds it easiest to dismiss those who disagree with him by questioning their sanity.

"His speech is rife with such phrases as 'paranoid; policy of madness, paranoid defense policies, ought to have his head examined,'" Agnew said.

Black vote frets precinct captain

CHICAGO (UPI)—The big precinct captain sitting under the television set at the far end of the bar on Chicago's South Side held up his hand and showed three fingers.

"It's McGovern, Percy and Carey," he said. He sounded disgusted.

He is a good precinct captain, a massive foreman from the steel mills with shoulders big enough to shove four men out of the way, one of the elite corps of political straw bosses who deliver the Democratic vote in Chicago with an efficiency unrivaled anywhere else.

The man he doesn't want his name used because he wants to keep on being precinct captain is a white captain in a black precinct. These things happen in changing neighborhoods. He doesn't necessarily like it that way. This year, he doesn't particularly like the way his black people are going to vote.

That's partly understandable. Sen. Charles H. Percy and Bernard Carey are Republicans. Percy looks like a winner over Rep. Roman C. Pucinski among the blacks, the precinct captain said, "because they think Percy got them this federal housing." Carey is running against State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, who is on trial on charges of covering up the police slayings of two Black Panthers. Hanrahan is not popular among South Side blacks.

But George S. McGovern, he indicated, was really hard to take. Democrat or no Democrat.

The way the precinct captain analyzed the vote might not suit a Washington political

Second class

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, special consultant to President Nixon on health affairs, said today that doctors and their patients have relegated many nurses to second-class status. He called for an end to the situation.

Egeberg told a convention of the National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses that shift of medical responsibility from doctors to nurses is being held up by both doctors and the public.

"Many physicians will be very reluctant to see others perform tasks for which they consider themselves to be uniquely qualified," Egeberg said. "And the man or woman who insists on seeing a doctor simply isn't going to be happy with a nurse."

He said public reluctance can be eased with education.

analyst. But it reflected a good deal of how the vote — particularly the black vote — is going in Chicago and how a certain kind of precinct captain feels about it.

If his language seems offensive and his statements questionable, the only valid excuse is that the views are his own and frankly stated.

"McGovern — sure I've got to tell them to vote for McGovern. Pull the straight party ticket, that's what I've got to tell them and that's what I do tell them. And they will."

"They go around with their fingers to their lips when they talk, you know, and they say they're going to vote for McGovern because they think they're going to get some of that Kennedy money."

"Sure. They think they're going to get two, three, four dollars a vote."

"I can show you women, good women, who are crocheting things because somehow they think if they do that Rose Kennedy will help them out. They tell each other this guy Eagleton was shafted so that Shriver would get in and they'd get that Kennedy money."

Who's telling them that? Someone is. Not me. I just tell them to pull the straight Democratic lever. I don't have to tell them what I think of that guy McGovern. They can have him."

The precinct captain has rarely been known to quote Scripture, although he does occasionally cite a text from Mayor Richard J. Daley.

"I'm on Mayor Daley's list of captains," he said. "I've been a precinct captain last year, and I am this year, and I will be next year. No matter what happens, I'll be there."

"Now I've got the mayor's invitation for me and the other captains to come down and listen to McGovern in the Sherman House on the 11th."

"I'll go there and listen to the man, but you could come down, too, and eat my lunch for me. I wouldn't care. It's just that, no matter what I tell my people, come Election Day, I can't pull the straight party lever myself."

Loyal husband

LEIGH, England (UPI) — Terry Barton and his wife Liz said they were walking through the Casbah of Tangiers one night recently when an Arab offered to buy her for $3,750.

"At first I thought the whole thing was a joke," said Liz, 21.

"But then the Arab felt my arm, as though he was trying to estimate how much work I had in me."

"I suppose I should be flattered by having a price of $3,750 pounds put on my head," she said. "But to tell the truth, I was relieved when my husband didn't take the offer."

'30's actress dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Actress Miriam Hopkins, a major star of the 1930s whose top roles were in the film "Becky Sharp" and the Broadway production of "The Skin of Our Teeth," died early today of an apparent heart attack at a Manhattan hotel. She was 72.

She came to New York in July for a retrospective of her films at the Museum of Modern Art.

A native of Bainbridge, Ga., Miss Hopkins began her acting career following graduation from Syracuse University.

Her first appearance was as a chorus girl in the Broadway production of "The Music Box Review" in 1921.

Following dramatic appearances on Broadway in "An American Tragedy" in 1926 and "The Affairs of Anatole" in 1931, Miss Hopkins went to Hollywood.

Sears in TF expanding

TWIN FALLS — Expansion of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. automotive service center is expected to be completed in January, 1973.

D. E. Ander, manager of the company's store here, said the center is on the southeast corner of Fourth Street West and Second Avenue West, across from the retail store.

The project will add storage space, an automotive sales area and employee facilities, Ander said. When finished, the center will include four auto service bays and will cover 4,983 square feet. New lifts, tire changes and wheel alignment equipment will be installed.

Batteries, tire, brake and exhaust equipment, and parts and accessories lines will be carried in the automotive sales area.

A light beige textured plaster will be applied to the exterior, with a canopy in a contrasting dark brown around two sides to protect patrons from adverse weather.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

Doctors, nurses and hair specialists have developed a treatment for both men and women that is not only stopping hair loss, but is actually growing hair.

This doesn't even ask you to take their word for it. They've got you to try the treatment for 12 days, at their risk, not yours.

Naturally, this would not offer the opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to run in your family, this is a curable condition if you act now.

Hair loss caused by stress can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you act until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair, now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Forsch Laboratories Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 12 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Jerome vote set Nov. 14 for district rezoning

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Tuesday, Nov. 14, was set by the Jerome School Board as the date for a district rezoning election.

The date was set at a regular meeting of the school board last night after trustees heard a letter from the State Department of Education giving formal approval to the district's rezoning proposal.

If the plan is approved, the trustee zones will have approximately equal population and the present trustees will be retained.

Board Chairman Gordon Hollifield reported to the school board on the District Four trustee meeting. He read the following resolution which has been submitted to the Idaho School Trustees Association, saying "We support a broad base tax for local government financing. The county mill levy for all taxing districts shall be applied to whichever is the greatest of the taxed units (individual, etc.), net taxable income or total assessed valuation."

Hollifield also read a letter he submitted to Allen Smith, secretary of the Idaho School Trustees Association, saying that trustees at the District Four meeting seemed concerned about possible loss of local control of schools. The resolutions presented which would have moved control to the state level were defeated.

A proposal by Supt. John Campbell that payroll deductions for payment of Idaho Education Association dues be discontinued was tabled. Campbell said the dues are presently deducted monthly after the teachers sign a deduction slip. Fine print on the deduction slips orders the district to deduct taxes for the entire year from the final check if the teacher resigns or is terminated. Barbara Mecham, IEA member, said apparently the procedure was not followed last year as the IEA has requested payment for dues of two teachers who resigned, plus payment for dues of two teachers who terminated their memberships. It is not known whether the district or the Jerome IEA unit will have to bear the $163.40 owing.

A contract for Randy Bell, junior high teacher, was approved. He has been teaching and being paid since the beginning of the year without contract approval.

Bids will be called for in the sale of Appleton School, west of Jerome. The bids will be opened at the Dec. 11 meeting.

Trustee William Kersey proposed that the district purchase land adjacent to Jefferson Elementary School and the junior high. The board decided to delay a decision in the matter after hearing that land purchases must be budgeted.

ROY EVANS
resigns

Hailey chief resigns

HAILEY — Hailey Police Chief Roy Evans has resigned his position effective Nov. 1.

In a letter to the City Council, Evans said he gave the move "long, careful consideration."

The letter stated that Evans felt he could obtain more benefits including better pay, (job) security and better living conditions by seeking another job. Evans said he is currently under consideration for two law enforcement positions.

Hailey Mayor Lawrence Heagle said the council had no plans at this time to hire a new chief. Relief Patrolman Dave Ivie has agreed to serve from Nov. 1 until Patrolman Pat Keefer returns from the police academy in mid-November.

Evans had served as chief for over one year.

Rezoning election okayed by Gooding School Board

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — Gooding School Board members approved a trustee rezoning election for Dec. 5 in a regular meeting Monday night.

The school district is rezoning to give a more even distribution of the population in each zone.

If voters approve the plan, approximately 20 per cent of the district's population will be located in each zone through the redistricting. Approval of the State Department of Education for the rezoning proposal has been given, Cecil Hobbes, attorney for the district, said.

Trustee Zone 1 would be made larger to include the area north of the railroad tracks. Zone 2, south of the tracks, would also be enlarged. Zone 3 would go from Fifth Avenue to the railroad tracks within the city of Gooding, and Zone 4 from Fifth Avenue to Ninth Avenue within the city. Zone 5 would be from Ninth Avenue to Thirteenth Avenue within the city.

The rezoning proposal creates trustee vacancies in Zones 4 and 5. Present board members would appoint a trustee for each of those areas until the next regular election in the spring.

Claude Scanlon will continue as Zone 3 trustee. In Zone 1, there would be two representatives, Rodney Glauner and Arden Stutzman. In Zone 2 there would also be two trustees, David Boring and Richard Graves.

All of the trustees will be up for reelection in the spring election and only one trustee from each zone will serve.

In other school board action, William Oakley, school auditor, presented the audit report. He said the district is in good financial condition.

School trustees and administrators discussed plans for American Education Week, Oct. 22 to 28. Supt. James Muscat said the emphasis will be on school visitation and parents will be invited to sit in on classes and eat in the school cafeterias. Muscat also announced after a month's operation, the school finds it cannot break even on the school milk program.

Costs will be raised from three to four cents and from eight to ten cents per carton of milk for the servings for each child and for each adult.

Muscat also announced he will be working for a plan to rent the school gymnasium for use by the town basketball team.

It will also be available for other community use, he said.

The Gooding Education Association will now be designated as the Gooding Teachers Representatives Group, Muscat said.

Cassia County School trustees adopt budget

By LePAGE LAYTON
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Cassia County school trustees adopted a budget for the 1972-73 school year which is 4.95 per cent above last year's budget.

The total general fund expenditures are $2.62 million, compared to $2.49 million last year.

The budget breakdown into major expense items with comparisons to last year lists administrative $82,300; $81,800; instructional, $2.05 million, $1.96 million; attendance and health service, $4,000, $4,500; pupil transportation, $128,800, $114,950; operation of plant, $232,000, $203,000; maintenance of plant, $37,500, $35,500; fixed costs (Social Security and Insurance) $1,500, $30,100; food services and student body expense, $7,400, $6,650; capital outlay, $41,000, $55,000.

Gene Sorensen, program chairman for the Southwest PTA, invited board members to a meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Dworshak School to tell PTA members something about the problems and powers the various officials have to give them a better understanding of how the school district operates.

School District Clerk Matt Warr requested the board relieve him of liability for drawing checks to A. Paul Brown, board chairman. State law does not allow a school district offer remuneration to a school board member or member of his family. Brown is a dentist and has treated children in the Head Start program with dental problems. The Head Start program instructs parents or guardians of children with dental problems to take the children to a dentist of their choice for treatment at the expense of the school district.

The board adopted a resolution releasing Warr from liability providing the board has approved the bills and authorized payment.

W. B. Whiteley, Oakley, member of the school board, asked if he could submit bids for the Cassia schools. The board denied him permission to bid.

Mrs. Paul Brown, wife of board chairman A. Paul Brown, has worked for eight or nine days as a substitute teacher. The school board decided that the practice will have to be stopped as it violates the state nepotism law.

Bids will be called for in the sale of Appleton School, west of Jerome. The bids will be opened at the Dec. 11 meeting.

Trustee William Kersey proposed that the district purchase land adjacent to Jefferson Elementary School and the junior high. The board decided to delay a decision in the matter after hearing that land purchases must be budgeted.

Cassia truants may face court

BURLEY — Habitual truants will be referred to magistrate court by officials of Burley High School and Burley Junior High School.

After discussing truancy problems with Merrill Robinson, Burley Junior High School assistant principal and advisor, and Mrs. Ruth Heiner, probation advisor at Burley High School, Monday evening, the Cassia County School board recommended the action.

Robinson told the board some students have been staying away from school two or three days a week. He asked what authority he had to dismiss these students. Mrs. Heiner reported the same problem in the high school.

First time truants have been taken to School Supt. Harold Blauer for conference and allowed to return in school on a probation basis. These measures have not been effective.

Herman Bedke, school district attorney, said that if the students are dismissed the school must notify the county prosecuting attorney who will file a petition with the magistrate. The magistrate will work with the students and their parents or guardians and decide whether to prosecute or act under the youth rehabilitation act, possibly placing the students in foster homes. If none of these measures are effective, truants will be sent to the State Industrial School at St. Anthony.

Dietrich aides okay program

DIETRICH — Supt. Wayne Perron said the school board has approved a health and accident program for the Dietrich school staff.

It went into effect this month. Other business at the Monday night board meeting pertained to regular maintenance projects, including cleaning of the cesspool.

Recent school improvements outlined for Filer trustees

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Recent improvements in School District No. 413 from revenue of the plant facilities levy were outlined by school trustees Monday.

A 5 mill levy was passed this summer to provide for the improvements.

Cost of new flooring on the high school and reconditioning of the furnace at the high school came to $5,139; painting of the school and renovating of the locker room cost $5,317, and a new lawn mower was purchased for $1,749.

The first of three payments to the Peace Lutheran Church for 6.6 acres was $5,000 for 1972. Total price was $15,000, to be paid in three yearly payments. The land formerly belonging to the church adjoins the Filer Elementary School grounds and is being used for a playground.

Work will begin Thursday on blacktopping around the high school and the Magic Valley Asphalt Co. was awarded the contract for $6,498.

Supt. Ray Baker presented the schedule for teachers' conferences for all grades, including the high school. They will be held Nov. 15 through Nov. 17. The conferences, the first in the Filer school system, will enable parents to talk to their children's teachers to discuss school activities.

The board gave permission for the use of a new grading system in the first and second grades. Children's report cards will be graded with "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" with pluses or minuses. They will include comments from teachers on the pupils' progress.

Supt. Baker was authorized to attend a northwest accrediting meeting in Portland Dec. 3-6.

Ed Marshall, principal of the high school, has received an invitation to tour the U. S. Naval Academy Nov. 7-10. The board authorized him to attend.

Lawrence Knigge, school board president, announced a trustee workshop to be held Nov. 3 and 4 at the College of Southern Idaho. Trustees also made plans to attend the state board meeting Nov. 16-17 in Boise.

The Filer band and drill team were given permission to attend the Fairland Parade in Boise on Nov. 18. The groups will pay their own expenses.

Beginning next Monday all school buses in the district will run 15 minutes later. Baker said beginning Nov. 8 the first grades will go back to their regular dismissal time of 3:30 p.m. A 10-week trial basis for 2:30 p.m. dismissal for first graders has not proved successful, he said.

The superintendent said attendance at the schools to date is 913 in all grades. Filer elementary has 517 students, high school 321, and Hollister elementary 76. The total is 45 more than in 1971.

Election set at Wendell

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

WENDELL — School officials have decided to make another try for a bond issue election to build a gymnasium and additional classrooms.

In a meeting Monday night the board of trustees set Nov. 21 as the date for a bond issue in excess of $550,000.

Six months ago, voters in the district defeated a $520,000 bond issue by one vote.

Trustees were told by their fiscal agent, Jerry Nowlin, Monday they can count on at least a 10 per cent increase in building costs since the original bond issue plans were made.

Plans call for the purchase of 40 acres of land for location of a new high school gymnasium and the addition of several classrooms at the present Wendell junior high school.

Supt. Lawrence LaRue said the present bonding limits of the district are $549,000 and since the building and land costs will exceed this, the difference must come from cash on hand or a cutback in building plans.

An exact amount of the bond issue has not been determined. A meeting with the school architect and the public to discuss building costs will be called for the immediate future, LaRue said.

Board members also voted to reactivate the district's Citizen Committee to work for promotion of the bond issue.

The board approved a negotiation agreement with the Wendell teacher association. Items to be negotiated will be teacher salaries, group health and life insurance, personal leave, sick leave, professional leave, and grievance procedures. Negotiators from the teachers association are Yogi Behrens, Mrs. Jon Black, and Mrs. Jean Powell.

The board requested a study be made of graduation requirements including credit and course requirements and the number of credits earned in one semester. Les Wilson, an Idaho State University graduate, has been hired as a high school mathematics teacher to replace Tom Olson who resigned.

Standlee hearing slated

JEROME — A preliminary hearing is scheduled Oct. 16 for Gay Dean Standlee, 30, Hazelton, in the Jerome County Courthouse.

Standlee is accused of first degree murder in the death of his ex-wife, Sharyn Woodall, 26, Silverton, Ore., and of attempted murder in the wounding of Theral Woodall, 41, also Silverton.

The incident occurred Aug. 17 at the home of Standlee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Standlee, who live near Greenwood east of Hazelton. The shooting reportedly followed a family altercation.

Mrs. Woodall died from two wounds in the head. Her husband received a single wound in the chest, all allegedly fired from a .38 caliber revolver.

Standlee was taken into custody at the scene of the shooting on the night it occurred.

On Aug. 18 he appeared in court before Magistrate Russell Shaud in Jerome and requested a preliminary hearing.

Standlee, who was represented by James May, Twin Falls attorney, was released on a total of $35,000 bond, by Magistrate Shaud. He reportedly returned to his parents' home.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodall were reportedly visiting in the Magic Valley area from Silverton, where they operate a jewelry store. Mrs. Woodall was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Turka, who operate the Shoshone Ice Caves service north of Shoshone.

Minidoka school aide resigns from board

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Long-time Minidoka County school trustee Leo Moore resigned from the board Monday evening.

Moore, who represented Zone 1 on the board for more than eight years, said the action was necessary because he moved to Zone 2 of the district.

By-laws require that a trustee live in the zone he represents.

The board accepted Moore's resignation, with all trustees expressing regret at the loss of his experience and knowledge. Board Member Leonard Martin said Moore's dedication was indicated by the fact he had not missed any meetings during his term of service.

In other action the board: — Voted to change the regular meeting date from the second to the third Monday each month to allow receipt of financial statements through a new computerized system.

— Awarded an air conditioning contract to Ramsey Heating and Electric, Burley, which submitted a bid of $6,620 for installation of a 2.5 ton unit to cool five classrooms in Pershing Elementary School. Asst. Supt. Doyle Lowder said the project will be entirely funded by federal money under the Title I program for migrant education.

— Passed a motion to declare an emergency and ask the State Board of Education for a letter of authorization to certify Mrs. Christine Hunsaker, a special education teacher, who lacks music credits for completion of a bachelor of science degree.

— Voted to act as a fiscal agent in cooperation with the State Department of Vocational Education to provide nurses aide and fire protection courses in the adult education program.

— Denied a request by Glen Maughn, Minico High School principal, to attend a northwest accreditation meeting in Portland, Ore.

— Established leave policies for non-certified full-time personnel providing three days bereavement leave, and one day sick leave for every 30 working days up to a maximum of eight days annually and a cumulative to but not to exceed 20 days.

— Awarded a $150 pay increment to Larry Caldwell, for art work in support of the high school operetta.

— Gave district employee Arnold Hasselstrom a leave of absence. He has been ill since the start of the school term.

McGovern aide in Gooding

GOODING — Steve Wetzel, coordinator for the McGovern Campaign in Idaho's Second Congressional District, met with Gooding County Democratic Central Committee members Monday night.

He also met with Di Bowler, McGovern coordinator for Gooding County, to discuss issues in the campaign. He said Nixon plans to eliminate the Department of Agriculture and combine it with the Department of Commerce for greater advantages to large corporation farmers.

Wetzel said McGovern is a staunch supporter of the family farmer. He also discussed the proposed McGovern tax reform. He said $22-billion in tax revenue would be raised by taxing those most able to pay taxes. Wetzel said those living on salaries or wages would not pay any more than the present tax rate. Revenue would be raised by closing tax loopholes and taxing capital gains, and reducing the oil depletion allowance.

The coordinator said although McGovern proposes cutting some items in the defense budget, the nation's defense would not be weakened.

At the same time McGovern proposes a cut in aircraft carriers from 16 to 6, he said, the candidate would increase submarines from 69 to 84.

McGovern also proposes a troop cut in Europe from 300,000 to 130,000 the speaker said. The NATO nations of Europe do less to protect themselves than the United States does to protect them, Wetzel said.

Shoshone okays burying cable

SHOSHONE — Shoshone school trustees have approved a request from Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co. to bury cable across the Lincoln school playground.

The action was taken at a regular meeting Monday night.

Trustees approved one extra hour per day for Mrs. Frank Lequerica, hot lunch supervisor, who is also working as a part time cook. Mrs. Lequerica will be working six and one-half hours per day now as a cook.

The board decided to hold a recessed meeting at 8 p.m. Monday to study results of the capital needs assessment report. This needs assessment was carried out the last part of the 1971-72 school year. The said there are 43 resolutions in evaluation was conducted all.

through the cooperation of the State Department of Education, patrons and school officials.

Plans were made to attend a workshop at the College of Southern Idaho for trustees, clerks and superintendents.

Approval was granted to Jack Bowlin, Lincoln principal, and teacher, Al Kristal to attend a workshop on writing grants and project proposals. The workshop will be in Boise this week.

Further discussion on resolutions to be presented at the Idaho School Trustees meeting in Boise, Nov. 16-18 will also be conducted Monday night. Supt. Kenneth Crothers said there are 43 resolutions in evaluation was conducted all.

Passers-by save life of man, 31

KETCHUM — Two unidentified passers-by were credited by Ketchum Police today with saving the life of a man pinned in his vehicle in Warm Springs Creek.

Ketchum Police Chief Dennis Haynes said Dennis B. MacFadden, 31, Ketchum, was injured when his panel truck slipped off the Warm Springs Bridge on Lewis Drive in Ketchum Monday.

The vehicle overturned and MacFadden was pinned in it for about 10 minutes. Chief Haynes said the passers-by kept MacFadden's head out of the water, saving his life.

He said the accident occurred in a heavy rainstorm and that the panel apparently slid from the bridge and crashed about 12 feet down into the water.

MacFadden was taken by ambulance to Moritz Community Hospital. He was released after treatment.

Schmitz has same issues, different style

DETROIT (UPI)—John G. Schmitz, 41, capped his first day of campaigning Saturday with a rally in suburban Dearborn, at a youth center where Wallace held one of his more successful pre-election rallies.

But the similarities between the urbane, articulate congressman from California and the folksy, plain-talking Alabama governor end there.

The comparison was evident this weekend as Schmitz, the American Party candidate for president, opened his campaign in Michigan—the scene of Wallace's greatest presidential primary triumph.

Schmitz, 41, capped his first day of campaigning Saturday with a rally in suburban Dearborn, at a youth center where Wallace held one of his more successful pre-election rallies.

It is the same hall where Arthur Bremmer waited outside a window for an opportunity to take a shot at Wallace. Bremmer said in his diary two girls got in the way and foiled his intent.

Schmitz recalled the incident and hinted at an alleged left-wing plot. "Maybe I ought to tell you about it," Schmitz said, "because as a matter of fact, I understand, that's the window right over there where Arthur Bremmer stalked George Wallace."

Schmitz made repeated references to Wallace's good showing in Michigan's primary. "We expect to do well in Michigan," he said. "After all, this is the state that startled the nation with George Wallace in the primaries."

But, as one active supporter put it, "Schmitz is not Wallace." The issues are the same, but the style is the difference between Orange County, California, and Barbour, Ala.

Wallace, somewhat ruffled in his shirt-sleeves, sweating profusely, gesturing with his arms, gave his largely blue-collar audience plain, hard talk—a tent-church revival, hour about the sins committed against the common man by the big government, big business, eastern liberals and the news media.

Schmitz, with a thin black mustache and receding black hair combed back, wears dark blue business-suits, keeps his coat on and sprinkles his speech with references to St.

Augustine, obscure Chinese military strategists and Keynesian economics.

Wallace's wit was direct and clear; Schmitz's barbed thrusts are more sophisticated and oblique, if not more cutting. Gone are Wallace's sallies against "pointy-headed" eastern liberals and college professors who ride bicycles and dream up even more fantastic social welfare schemes to punish the working man.

Schmitz, a Roman Catholic with seven children, drew his only standing ovation when he declared, "we are for capital punishment and against abortion."

He was loudly cheered when he affirmed his opposition to gun restrictions. And he again drew attention to his position as stand-in for Wallace.

"If I were ever gunned down as George Wallace's replacement," he said, "let me make this very clear: I don't want a restrictive gun law passed as a memorial to my death."

Schmitz, a lameduck congressman, is a member of the John Birch Society and the Dearborn audience was loaded with persons proudly wearing the gold leaf pin that identifies lifetime members of the group. They more than any others could follow Schmitz's more studied references.

Mrs. Josephine Chapman, who directed Wallace's Michigan campaign and now is head of the Schmitz organization in the state, acknowledged Schmitz does not have the same appeal as Wallace.

But, she said, the important thing was to keep the American Party (in Michigan, the American Independent Party) alive for the next election and George Wallace.

JOLLY TIME POP CORN

Texas underdog Democrats gain

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—An accelerating Democratic challenge against Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., may overshadow the final month of the presidential campaign in Texas despite repeated visits to the Lone Star state by national contenders.

Democrat Barefoot Sanders, given little chance in the Senate race against Tower when the campaign opened, now claims to be within three percentage points of the diminutive Texas incumbent. He has made new allegations—which Tower ignored at least for the time being—that could put Tower's re-election bid in jeopardy by Nov. 7.

Sen. George S. McGovern's presidential effort is meeting with less success in Texas but could be boosted by a federal court ruling last week that makes it easier for college students to vote in the state.

The ruling permits students to vote in the cities where they attend school rather than having to return to their parents' homes or vote absentee in the general election. McGovern's strongest support in Texas is coming from liberal oriented college towns and from organized labor.

Sanders charged last week that Tower took more than $10,000 in speaking fees from banking groups, which had legislation to exempt them from taxes pending before the Senate committee on which Tower serves.

Tower is personally ignoring Sanders' allegations but Austin attorney Edward Clark, former ambassador to Australia under President Lyndon Johnson and Tower's campaign manager, is responding vigorously.

The Tower-Sanders race has heated up only in the past two weeks and areas of the state Tower once considered safe are now in doubt.

Some Sanders backers contend national Republican leaders have recognized a surge by Sanders and have now classified Tower's Senate post as one of the two most vulnerable in the nation for the GOP. Earlier, they regarded Tower's seat as safe—one which the Democrats had no chance to win.

Former Gov. John B. Connally—in a move viewed by many as an effort to shore up Tower's campaign—announced last week that he was keeping out of the senatorial race.

Connally, chairman of the national Democrats for Nixon organization, had stated publicly earlier that he intended to vote for Sanders. Last week, however, he denied that his statement amounted to an endorsement of Sanders.

Republicans seemed unconcerned about Connally's stance in the Senate race when Tower looked unbeatable. Now, however, they are said to be telling Connally they may blame him if Tower, only Republican elected to statewide office in Texas since Reconstruction, is defeated.

State Rep. Mervin Murray of Harlingen, dean of the Texas House of Representatives and a veteran South Texas politician, now rates Sanders the favorite in the populous Rio Grande Valley.

"I would say the race right now is very close," Murray said. "But as we get closer to election day, I believe Sanders is going to pull away from Tower. I think he'll carry the valley."

Kennecott workers walk out in protest in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Hundreds of thousands of workers left their jobs before quitting time Monday to attend a huge rally to protest the "imperialist insolence" of the Kennecott Corp.

President Salvador Allende said he will announce, at the rally formation of a high-level commission to protect the nation's copper interests.

Kennecott last week secured an embargo on payment of a $1.3 million Chilean copper shipment in France. The U. S. Corporation acted to press its claim for indemnification for copper properties nationalized in July, 1971.

The rally was sponsored by the communist-controlled Central Labor Federation, which ordered its members to leave their jobs in the early afternoon to attend. Most downtown stores and businesses closed early.

"The imperialist insolence of Kennecott must not go unpunished," the federation said. "Chileans, regardless of political affiliation, must support the government in this time of crisis."

The Communist Youth League plastered downtown Santiago with hundreds of posters saying: "Yankee thieves: The copper is ours."

Political observers said Allende's shaky condition, dominated by communists and socialists, was trying to exploit the Kennecott issue for maximum political benefit.

The embargo by a Paris court united government and opposition for the first time in more than a year. The Kennecott action overshadowed a 100 percent rise in the cost of living in the last nine months and

Fast-talker vanishes

DENVER (UPI)—A fast-talking promoter using half a dozen aliases may have swindled Denver-area banks and individuals out of as much as a half-million dollars in the past 18 months, a Denver newspaper said Sunday.

The Rocky Mountain News identified the man as Charles Maloof, 42, alias Ely Sawaya, Joe Joseph, Alfredo Arias, Charles Malous and F. Soglin. The man established six companies in the Denver area in the past year, most of them for investment and business management purposes, before vanishing from town three weeks ago.

The newspaper story said the total loss from defaulted bank loans, unpaid bills and unfilled investments could total $500,000.

Among the loans involved was a $60,000 unsecured loan from the Mid-States Bank.

Granges set joint ceremony

FILER — New officers of the Filer, Lucerne, Hollister and Knull granges will be installed in a joint ceremony here Wednesday.

The installation ceremony for the four granges will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the Filer Grange hall with a potluck dinner to follow.

Everett Bonnichsen was elected master of the Filer Grange in the regular meeting Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gillespie were welcomed as new members of the Filer grange and were installed in ceremonies conducted by Clinton Dougherty, master.

Clyde VanAusdein, resolutions chairman, read resolutions received from the State Grange and scheduled for presentation during the state convention in Coeur d'Alene later this month. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bonnichsen will be official delegates from the Filer Grange. Mrs. and Mrs. Craig Dunlap were named alternate convention delegates.

Members approved plans for an Oct. 16 recognition dinner by the 4-H Builders Club in the grange building. Members signed a birthday card to be sent to Raymond Thomas who observed his 83rd birthday anniversary Friday. It was reported W. R. Lessels suffered a fractured hip bone in a fall and is hospitalized in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Harley Williams conducted a word contest on Columbus Day with Mrs. Dougherty winning first prize and Bonnichsen second. Loren Drake presented an article on women's liberation. Dorothy Stroud read a poem on "October," and Mr. and Mrs. Erwood McCauley served refreshments.

Persons attending the Wednesday installation are asked to bring sandwiches, cookies or cake.

Increased harvest Soviets' farm goal

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist Party newspaper Pravda today urged the nation's farmers to review this year's bad grain harvest and take measures to help prevent a recurrence.

In a front-page editorial, the newspaper said this was a "difficult" year caused by a lack of snow cover for the winter crop and then blistering heat which stunted growth. It gave figures for regional harvests but none nationwide.

The main task without delay is to start the struggle for the future harvest," Pravda said. "In every collective farm and every state farm, every area, (farmers) should analyze the results of the work done and reveal shortcomings, losses and discover new reserves which could be used for the future."

"It is a question of planning and carrying out such measures which will not only fulfill the national plan in the third year of the five-year plan but also to compensate the present shortage in agricultural production."

The Soviets have yet to tell the nation this year's bad harvest has forced it to purchase grain abroad, including large orders from the United States, Canada and France.

UNIPEL 27-12-0 this fall can make next spring a lot less hectic.

First, let's destroy a myth. With hay and pasture, fall applied fertilizer doesn't lose its nutrient value over the winter months. You may in fact get earlier grass. But consider the other benefits of fall fertilization.

1. You're fertilizing when you have extra time which of course means more time for you in the spring when things really get hectic.

2. Fall fertilization means earlier spring growth and your hay should have a higher nutrient value.

3. Fertilizing in the fall eliminates the problem of going into the fields in the spring when the ground may be soft and wet. You avoid unnecessary soil compaction.

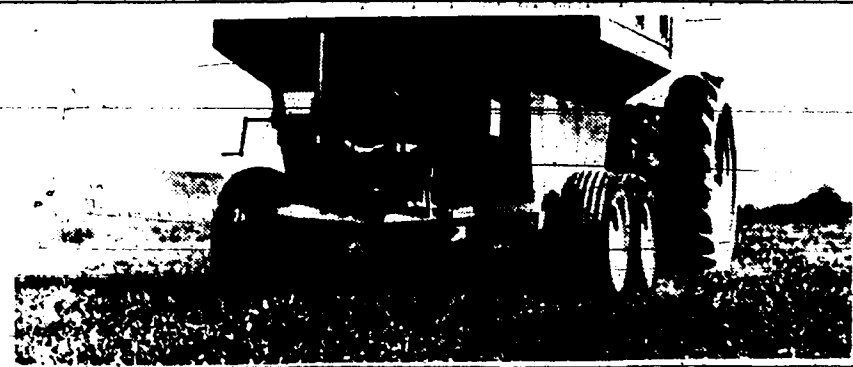

4. Growers who wait until spring to fertilize often find their supplier sold out of the product they want.

So if fall fertilizing sounds like a good idea this year, you may want to consider ORTHO UNIPEL 27-12-0, a fertilizer specially recommended for this area. UNIPEL is ORTHO's uniform fertilizer pellet. Uniform in size, shape, weight and nutrient content for exceptionally easy calibration and even spreading. How about talking over UNIPEL and fall fertilizing with your ORTHO Dealer?

Book Review

By ANNIE LOURIE BURTON
Twin Falls Public Library

TWIN FALLS — As adults, many of us miss a great deal of enjoyable and informative reading by thinking of children's books as being exclusively action oriented and strictly for children.

A book which does much to dispel this generalization is the children's book, "Indian Captive: the story of Mary Jamison," by Lois Lenski.

Though definitely not shirking the story of Mary Jamison's capture by the Seneca Indians, her near escapes, and later her decision to remain with the Indians, Lois Lenski does more. She succeeds in reflecting the spirit, traditions and superstitions of Indian life. For example, in one incident Mary inquires as to why the doll presented to her had no face. The Indian woman replies: "If it had a face that would complete the effigy and invite a spirit to come and inhabit it. You could not tell the spirit was hiding inside, because the corn-husk is so unlike flesh. If you dragged the doll or hurt it in any way, you would be hurting the spirit. That we must never do — so we put no faces on our dolls."

However, Miss Lenski does not rely completely on description to reflect the lives and thoughts of the Seneca. Her numerous drawings based on careful examination and many Indian drawings and discussions with Gaoyah, one of the skilled Indian artists, make here the first authentic illustrations portraying Seneca Indian life.

Couple these with her convincing text and you have in Lois Lenski's "Indian Captive" a most valuable piece of Americana.

Hints

Toggle coats for winter include some in unlikely shades. Would you believe a pink toggle coat?

Every teen-age girl really needs a pulled-down knit hat for fall. And a beret and knee socks and argyle and loafers and saddle shoes and pins in unexpected places like sleeve and pant cuffs. That's the edit from fashion coordinators at Seventeen magazine. They combed the markets before making recommendations.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who is 54 years old, weighs 240 pounds, has a belly that looks like a pregnant woman ready to deliver, and walks around the house naked as a newborn baby?

I think it's revolting! I don't mind that he sleeps in the nude, but walking around the house without a stitch is really too much! Yes, I know we have had a hot summer, but if I can stand it, he can stand it, and we do have fans in every room.

A woman once complained to you because her husband came to the table bare from the waist up. Well she doesn't know how lucky she is!

Give shorts to fat man

Print this in your column, Abby. Maybe "El Lardo" will get the hint.

DEAR TURNED: A hint won't help. Hand "El Lardo" a pair of shorts and tell him to put 'em on!

DEAR ABBY: I am 31, single and female. I recently moved to this large city where I know practically no one. Grace, a college friend, called me long distance and gave me the number of an eligible gentleman who lives here. He's a friend of Grace's husband and is supposed to be super special.

They said they had already called the gentleman and told him to expect a call from me.

Question: Is it proper (and wise) for me to call him? Altho I am not very well acquainted here I don't want him to think I am desperate for a man and am chasing him.

I wish I had thought to tell Grace to give the gentleman MY number and have him call ME. Should I call Grace back and ask her to do that? I don't want to appear ungrateful, but I'm not accustomed to calling men. What should I do?

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Since the arrangements have already been made, call the gentleman, and don't make a federal case out of it. And the next time a similar situation arises, ask the go-between to please have the gentleman call YOU.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and receive an allowance each week for "spending money," as I cannot work yet.

I have saved up enough money to buy a record player. It is a small model with two speakers, and costs $39.95. Before I can buy anything with my own money I have to get permission from my parents. When I asked about the record player, my mother consented, but my father did not, because we already have two record players in the house. One is in the living room and I have to get permission from my parents to use it. Most of the time they say no. The other one belongs to my older sister and I was told not to touch it, so I don't.

Abby, do you see any reason why I shouldn't be able to purchase a record player with my own money for my own personal use?

"STEREOLESS"

DEAR STEREOLESS: Two questions: How are your grades? Are you taking music lessons? If your grades are above average, after you've finished your homework, (and if you're taking music lessons, after you've practiced) you should be allowed to listen to stereo music to your heart's content. And since you've saved your spending money, I see no reason why you shouldn't be permitted to buy your own stereo.

DEAR ABBY: Just read that a husband was granted a divorce because his wife hadn't taken a bath for three years.

I would like to exchange with him. My wife hasn't stopped talking and complaining for thirty years. I figure I could stand the smell a lot better than I can stand the noise. Sign me,

MR. AND MRS. ARMIN LIST

50th Anniversary reception slated

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Armin List, Jerome, will be honored with a golden wedding anniversary reception Sunday at the Lutheran Church parlor.

The event, to be hosted by their son, Robert List, and his wife, Hamilton, Mont., will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Other relatives and members of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League will assist with the reception.

The couple was married Oct. 19, 1922, in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Twin Falls, with their brother-in-law, Dr. E. Riedel, China missionary, officiating.

They resided at Clover, Filer and Twin Falls until 1942.

The couple has one son and two grandchildren.

The Lists are members of the World War I Barracks and Auxiliary.

Mrs. List is a member of the Westfield Club, Help-A-Neighbor Club and the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Jerome. Both are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Jerome.

All of the couple's friends are invited. They request no gifts.

Utah miss, Orr exchange vows

RICHFIELD — Kim Haws, Spring Lake, Utah, former Richfield resident, and George Orr, Richfield, were married in LDS Temple rites Sept. 22.

The ceremony was performed at the Provo LDS Temple by James O. Rasband.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Haws, Spring Lake, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robert Orr, Jerome.

Attending the temple ceremony were the bride's parents; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Cowan, Payson, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Elvon Butler, Spring Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Johnson, Richfield, Utah, uncles and aunts of the bride and bridegroom.

The newlyweds were honored at an open house in the Spring Lake LDS Church the evening of the wedding and at a reception at the Richfield LDS Cultural Hall Sept. 23.

The couple received guests in the hall decorated with a yellow and mint-green color scheme. Yellow roses tied with wide yellow ribbon bows and streamers formed a wide arch to provide the setting for the receiving line.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin that featured long full sleeves buttoned at the wrist over wide cuffs and a stand-up collar. The full skirt fell from a natural waistline. Lace roses adorned the sleeves, collar and skirt. Her veil of nylon net was held by a pearl and lace headpiece. The bride's gown was made by her mother.

Yellow roses tied with mint-green ribbon streamers made up the bridal bouquet.

Julie Haws, Rexburg, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Debra Allred, Rangely, Colo.; Ann Wellhausen, Jerome, and Sally Haws, sister of the bride, Spring Lake.

Lynn Tree, Richfield, was best man. Daniel Haws, Spring Lake, brother of the bride, and Hyrum Orr, Buhl, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen.

The three-tiered wedding cake, featuring yellow roses and white swans, centered the bride's table which was covered with green lace.

Aunts of the bride, Mrs. Delpha Beck, Blackfoot, and Cecilia Stoddard, Idaho Falls, served the cake and poured punch. They were assisted by sisters of the bridegroom, Lynette Fabela, Eden; Marcy Orr and Josie Kenyon, both Jerome, and Cindy Orr, Buhl.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with green cloths edged with white pompons. Yellow flowers floating in crystal goblets centered the tables.

Karen Cliff, niece of the bridegroom, Richfield, registered guests.

Helping to arrange the gifts were Christine Davis and Sabrina Pugh, both Richfield. Rickie Haws, small brother of the bride, and Lani and Marcie Cliff, and Danielle Kenyon, nieces of the bridegroom, accepted the gifts.

Guests attended from Utah, Colorado, Jerome, Buhl, Idaho Falls and Blackfoot.

The newlyweds reside in Richfield where the bridegroom is employed by C. W. and Jay Ward, Inc.

Take a look at the West hand only. Your partner opens with one heart. South overcalls with one spade and you give a limit jump raise to three hearts. The bidding continues with three spades, four hearts by your partner and four spades by South.

It is obviously your hand. Your partner has opened the bidding and you are looking right at two aces. What should you do?

You don't want to bid five hearts. Your partner can have lots of good sound opening bids that leave you no play for 11 tricks. Then, do you double?

The West player we were watching doubled East, left the double in and South was promptly set one trick at his four-spade contract. "How could I tell that we were cold for six hearts," asked West. "You couldn't," was our reply. "However, you could have let your partner into the game. All you had to do was pass."

If West had passed East would have gone on to five hearts. He would have seen little chance to hurt four spades. He might have been allowed to play there or the opponents might have gone to five spades. It would be too much for East-West to keep on to six but they would have picked up 300 instead of just 100 points.

Auburn climbs in poll, USC holds first

Tuesday, October 10, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 19

NEW YORK (UPI) — When all-Americans Pat Sullivan and Terry Beasley graduated last spring, Auburn's '72 football hopes looked none too bright at least to the pollsters, writers and other so-called "experts." But somebody forgot to tell the Tigers' defensive unit and this week, after four straight victories, Coach Shug Jordan's club landed at No. 9 in the football ratings of the United Press International board of coaches. The leap into the top 10 was the biggest jump for any team as last week the Tigers were 14th. It wasn't easy though. First Auburn had to knock off unbeaten and nationally ranked Tennessee and then last week they dropped Mississippi from the undefeated ranks. In four games, however, it's the Tiger's defense that has shined, limiting the opposition to just 29 points. Still another test looms this week though when they travel to Baton Rouge, La. for a meeting with the 8th-rated Bayou Bengals of LSU. Southern California was once again No. 1, but not by as wide a margin as last week. The Trojans, who struggled past Stanford 30-21, nailed down 21 first place votes and 333 points while the Oklahoma State Sooners were joined in the top 20 by their (by now) usual Big Eight mates Nebraska (5th), Iowa State (14th) and Colorado (16th). But, giving that conference yet a fifth nationally-rated team this week is Oklahoma State, which cracked the top 20 for the first time in history at No. 19.

"This is a tremendous honor for our school and will provide a great incentive to our team," related Oklahoma State Coach Dave Smith said when informed of his club's new national ranking. Smith was also honored last week as UPI's coach of the week after Oklahoma State stunned Colorado 31-6. The only other changes in the top 10 were at No. 7 where Notre Dame exchanged places with LSU and at No. 10 where Washington slipped back a notch to make way for Auburn. Otherwise it was once again Alabama (3rd), followed by Ohio State, Nebraska and Michigan.

Texas, which meets Oklahoma at Dallas Saturday for the annual "wishbone classic," led the second 10 and after that, it was Tennessee (12th), UCLA (13th), Iowa State (14th), Air Force (15th), Colorado (16th), Penn State (17th), Arizona State (18th), Oklahoma State (19th) and Stanford (20th). Stanford may not have to wait long for redemption after its loss to USC. The Cardinals play host to Washington Saturday in the key game in the Far West.

Sanguillen bats Pirates past Reds in NL playoff

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Manny Sanguillen, the always smiling, always joking good humor man of the Pittsburgh Pirates, put them on the threshold of the National League pennant-clincher Monday by hitting a home run and then knocking in the winning run in a 3-2 pivotal playoff victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Sanguillen's handiwork, achieved before 52,420, largest crowd ever to see a baseball game here at Riverfront Stadium, gave the Pirates a two-to-one game edge over the Reds in the NL's best-of-five series.

The Pirates send Dock Ellis after the big one Tuesday and if he can beat the Reds again, as reliever Bruce Kison did in Monday's come - from - behind win, it'll be all over but the champagne and World Series for Pittsburgh.

Although Kison picked up the win for the Pirates with a scoreless 1 1/3 innings stint in relief of starter Nello Briles, it was Dave Guisti, Pittsburgh's bread-and-butter mop-up man, who saved the contest after Pete Rose doubled with one out in the eighth.

Guisti got always-troublesome Joe Morgan, the hero of Sunday's Cincinnati victory, to bounce out harmlessly and then struck out Bobby Tolan.

Clay Carroll, the workhorse of the Reds' bullpen who had 37 during the regular season, couldn't save this one.

He came into the ball game, with two on and one out in the seventh, gave up the winning run in the eighth and was charged with the defeat.

He came into the ball game, with two on and one out in the seventh, gave up the winning run in the eighth and was charged with the defeat.

The Reds go to Briles for two runs in the third inning and after Sanguillen homered in the fifth and the Pirates tied the score with another run in the seventh, they won the ball game in the eighth on a walk, a double and a fielder's choice.

Willie Stargell walked with one out in the eighth and went to third on Al Oliver's double down the left field line, Carroll then walked Richie Hebner intentionally, filling the bases, and bringing up Sanguillen.

The Pirates' catcher hit a shot to shortstop Darrel Chaney, who bobbled the ball a moment, then flipped it to second baseman Joe Morgan for one, but Sanguillen, running for all he was worth — and that's better than a half million in today's baseball market — beat Morgan's relay to first as Gene Cline, running for Stargell, crossed the plate with the winning run.

The Reds went in front in the third when Chaney opened with a single to right, moved to second on an infield out and scored on Morgan's single.

After Morgan stole second, he also scored on Bobby Tolan's single to center.

Gary Nolan, who pitched the first six innings for the Reds, kept the Pirates off the board until the fifth when Sanguillen homered over the left field wall.

Sims chosen for award

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — End James Sims of Southern California Monday was named Pacific-8 conference defensive player of the week for the second straight week.

Sims, a junior college transfer from Harbor College, was credited with tackles causing 61 yards in losses and with leading a Trojan defense charge which completely shut off the Stanford running attack in USC's 30-21 victory Saturday.

Pac-8 executive director Wiles Hallock said it was the first time since 1964 that a player had won the conference honor on back-to-back Saturdays. Linebacker Jack Chapple of Stanford did it eight years ago.

Trio placed on probation

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — The University of Southwestern Louisiana put its athletic director and two coaches on indefinite probation Monday because of an investigation centering on the recruitment and retention of student athletes in the basketball program.

Dr. Clyde Rougeou, Southwestern president, announced that probation had been imposed on athletic director A. G. Urban and on head basketball coach Beryl Shipley and assistant coach Tom Cox.

Southwestern was in trouble over basketball recruiting policies once before. In 1968, the NCAA put the school on two years probation for recruiting irregularities.

Rougeou said the NCAA was once again investigating the school's recruiting. He said USL's probe leading to the probation of Urban, Shipley and Cox "was independent of, but not entirely unrelated to, an investigation of the athletic program now being conducted by the NCAA."

Campaneris suspended for rest of playoffs

DETROIT (UPI) — Bert Campaneris, the Oakland Athletics' fiery shortstop, flew home under suspension Tuesday, and Detroit Tigers' manager Billy Martin saw his departure as a psychological boost for his team in the American League playoffs.

"It should be a boost for the Tigers," he said, "if someone shot your brother, you'd get a little mad, wouldn't you?"

A "little mad" could help the Tigers, who trail 2-0 in victories in the best-of-five series against the Athletics with the American League pennant and a World Series berth at stake.

"I don't think you can get too mad," Martin said.

Campaneris was suspended for the balance of the American League season — meaning the playoffs which could go one, two or three games — and fined $500 for throwing his bat at Tiger pitcher Lerrin Lagrow in Sunday's game at Oakland.

Athletic manager Dick Williams said the suspension meant little since Campaneris would be unable to play the balance of the series against Detroit anyway.

"His ankle is swollen, and he's suffering some discomfort," Williams said. "He would not have been able to participate, and the decision had been made to send him home before we were notified of the suspension. He was on the way to the airport when we caught him with the official notice."

Williams, shaking up his lineup a bit for Tuesday's playoff game, said the loss of Campaneris, the League's leading base stealer, "may weaken us as far as speed on the bases, but Dal Maxvill is a very, very sound shortstop, and he's been in world series play."

"One man is not in control of our whole ball club, but anytime Campaneris was on base, he was a threat. The hitters saw more fast balls, and it put the defense in motion. His speed will be missed, but the loss of one player shouldn't affect our club."

Williams said he had requested a replacement for Campaneris on the roster, but was turned down by League president Joe Cronin.

Martin, whose own shortstop, Ed Brinkman, was sidelined with what might be a spinal disc injury, said he was satisfied with Campaneris' penalty.

"I'm not after hurting anybody," he said, "He should have been thrown out of the playoffs, but the fine doesn't mean anything. I don't think baseball can tolerate people throwing bats like that."

"They're fortunate to have Maxvill to back up so they're not really hurting at all. We lost Brinkman, and we lost a hell of a ball player we can't replace."

Martin said catcher Duke Sims was suffering from a sprained ankle and would be held out Tuesday with Bill Freehan behind the plate catching Joe Coleman. But

Sims "probably would have played first base if he was unhurt," Martin said. "I'll make some other changes, too, but I won't announce them until Tuesday."

Though the statistics have been in Oakland's favor so far, with an 8-4 season record against the Tigers, Tuesday's figures might shift to Detroit since Coleman has a 2-1 record for the year against the Athletics and the A's starter, left hander Ken Holtzman, has a 1-3 mark against Detroit.

"We've beaten him every time we've seen him," Martin said before he was apprised that Holtzman had in fact beaten him once. "If we win Tuesday," he added, "we'll be in good position with (Mickey) Lolich and (Woodie) Fryman ready for Wednesday and Thursday."

Royal not surprised at odds

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Longhorn coach Darrell Royal seemed unsurprised and unconcerned Monday when told that a local gambler had the Longhorns a 20-point underdog against second-ranked Oklahoma for their annual encounter next Saturday.

"He (the gambler) ain't in business for his health," said Royal.

"I think it would be a fair statement to say that they (the Sooners) are one of the all-time great offensive teams. And their big improvement this year has come defensively."

They were an outstanding offensive football team last season. I don't know if their offense is better this year or if the defense is just so much better."

They just seem to have the ball forever because the defense keeps getting it back for them."

When we get the films of their games we get a great big reel of offense and a little reel of defense because they have the ball so much."

Royal said the thing that concerned him most about his team's performance in a 27-12 victory over Utah State last week was that it was not executing in pressure situations.

"I know at one point," he said, "we had failed to convert on nine third down situations while they were converting on five out of 10."

We had some situations where the play was right, but we just didn't execute. It wasn't always the same person. We were just not hitting on all cylinders."

Anderson is glum after Reds loss

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A sign on the office door of Cincinnati Reds manager Sparky Anderson says "smile."

"It's pretty hard to follow that sign's advice today," said a glum, but not completely discouraged Anderson moments after the Reds dropped a 3-2 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday in the third game of the National League Playoff series. "But I've already predicted I'll be smiling tomorrow."

The Cincinnati manager, who had predicted a five-game series prior to its beginning, pointed to the Reds' fourth-inning failure to score Johnny Bench from third after a leadoff triple as "the turning point in the whole game."

"Yeh, you have to do that," Anderson said, "that was the whole thing, when we didn't knock John in from third base with nobody out. That's a must."

Anderson said the Reds' scouting report on Pirate leftfielder Rennie Stennett, whose perfect throw to catcher Manny Sanguillen nailed Bench, was that he had a "better than average arm, but not very accurate. But he sure laid that one on the money."

Anderson said starting pitcher Gary Nolan, who had pitched only five innings in the last five weeks prior to Monday's game and was replaced by Pedro Borbon at the beginning of the seventh, had told him in the fifth his arm was beginning to stiffen.

Nolan took a couple of warm-up pitches in the seventh and then gave Anderson the signal he couldn't continue.

"When he's 100 per cent sound, Gary Nolan is the best pitcher in baseball," Anderson said of his young right-hander.

Nolan, who finished with a 15-5 record during the regular season despite missing most of the last half, said he "just ran out of gas."

"I didn't want to jeopardize the game with three innings to go, especially the way our bullpen has been going," said Nolan, head bowed in the quiet Cincinnati dressing room. "It could have worked the other way. It's unfortunate."

"I just did my best for six innings, but it just wasn't good enough. I didn't want to be a hero, but I've always expected a lot of myself and I expected more today. I guess that's why it hurts so much."

Leftfielder Pete Rose, who had three of the Reds' eight hits, including a double leading off the game and also failed to score, said he also thought Bench's wasted triple in the fourth was the key play.

"Against a team like the Pirates, you just can't make little mistakes like that," Rose said. "I told Joe (Morgan) that's going to be a big run."

Rose said he felt the third game of the series, which started at 1 p.m. MDT, would be a low-scoring affair because of the late afternoon shadows.

Oakland drills Houston 34-0 amid fan walkout

HOUSTON (UPI)—Daryle Lamonia threw two touchdown passes and George Blanda kicked a pair of field goals to lead the Oakland Raiders to a 34-0 victory Monday night over the Houston Oilers team which played so poorly that three fourths of the fans in the Astrodome walked out in the fourth quarter.

Lamonia, the leading passer in the American Conference, hit Fred Biletnikoff on a 16-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter and connected with rookie Mike Siani on a 26-yarder early in the fourth quarter.

The Raiders added two more easy touchdowns in the final period after intercepting Oiler passes, but most of the standing-room-only crowd of 51,378 had walked out in disgust by that time.

Clarence Davis scored on a 14-yard run after the one interception, which tackle Otto Sistrunk made on a Dan Pastorini toss on the 14.

Cornerback Nemiah Wilson picked off a Kent Nix pass on the Oiler 33 and returned it to the one.

Ken Stabler passed to tight end Bob Moore on the next play for the Raiders' final touchdown. Blanda kicked all four conversions and field goals of 46 and 35 yards.

Tackle Art Thoms and linebacker Phil Villipiano sparked the Raiders' defensive effort. Thoms blocked the only two Oiler field goal attempts, intercepted a pass to stop a third Houston threat and deflected the pass that Sistrunk intercepted.

Villipiano, a second-year player from Bowling Green, intercepted another pass and threw Pastorini for a yard loss on the Raider three yard line in the Oilers' most serious scoring threat.

The Oilers had the ball on the Raider two as the result of a blocked punt when Pastorini tried to run around right end and was met by Villapiano at the three. On the next play, linebacker Gus Otto tossed Pastorini back to the 17 and two plays later Thoms blocked a 24-yard field goal attempt by Skip Butler.

Butler tried a 42-yard field goal in the third quarter and the 6-5, 260-pound Thoms also blocked it, batting it back toward the Houston goal to the Oiler 23 before the Raiders took possession. That led to Blanda's 35-yard field goal, which made the score 13-0.

The Houston defense played well for three quarters.

Chamberlain ends financial holdout

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain, a holdout for almost a month, made peace, financially speaking, with the Los Angeles Lakers Monday and took part in his first preseason practice.

The 7-foot-2-inch center who helped the Lakers win the National Basketball Association championship last season conferred with Laker owner Jack Kent Cooke in the morning and then they made a joint announcement that "all contractual difficulties have been resolved."

No money was mentioned in the announcement. Chamberlain, 36, signed a two-year contract in August of 1971 when the wage-price freeze was in effect. He had been reported to be receiving as much as $300,000 a season.

Laker practice started Sept. 13 and Chamberlain declined to show up. He said he wanted to renegotiate his contract now that the wage freeze was lifted.

His attorney, Seymour Goldberg, was a "keen participant" in the conference with Cooke, the Lakers said.

Coach Bill Sharman welcomed Wilt to practice at Loyola University and said the big center may be in the lineup when the Lakers open the season on the road against City Wednesday.

Cooke, a voluble man, had this to say:

"When Wilt and I sat down together, our talks were not only amicable but we discovered that the differences we thought existed between us were actually no differences at all."

"Our problem basically was trouble reaching agreement that which is known nowadays with Cooke, the Lakers said, as 'a lack of communication,' although how two reasonably articulate men could fail to communicate transcends my understanding. Regardless, I am delighted to say Wilt is back with the Lakers."

When Mr. Cooke and I talked we realized that there was very little difference in our thinking and that all problems that may have existed were completely resolved. I'm extremely happy to be back with the Lakers.

Van Brocklin questions call by officials that set up TD

ATLANTA (UPI)—Norm Van Brocklin looked at the film of the Detroit-Atlanta game Monday and then insisted that the pass interference penalty that set up the Lions' winning touchdown Sunday should never have been called.

The play in question was a Detroit pass from the Falcon 38 with Atlanta leading 23-20 and only 39 seconds left to play. Clarence Ellis was charged with interfering with Lion receiver Ron Jessie at the Atlanta 3 and Detroit scored on the next play.

"The ball was thrown out of bounds and could not have been caught or intercepted," Van Brocklin said Monday. "Both Ellis and Jessie had a play at the ball and Jessie tripped over Ellis. It was a judgment call, but not a very good one."

Officials on Sunday had said that Ray Brown was the offending Atlanta defensive player but that was an error.

"There's no way you can fault Ellis (a 'rookie' from Notre Dame) on the play," continued

Van Brocklin. "While it is true that the pass would have been incomplete even if he had held back, he had as much right to try for the ball as Jessie."

A Monday medical report disclosed that runningback Dave Hampton, second only to Washington's Larry Brown in rushing in the NFC, dislocated his left elbow early in the fourth period Sunday but that doctors quickly popped the elbow back in place.

"I don't know if Hampton will be ready to play next Sunday at New Orleans or not," said Brocklin. "I suppose he could, if there is any swelling, that could be a factor. And then, of course, there's always the pain factor."

Hampton, who gained 161 yards the previous week against the Rams, was held to 23 yards in the first half Sunday but gained 52 in the third period and had just ripped off a 10-yard run on the opening play of the final period when he was injured.

Hampton now has 392 yards in four games, 47 less than Brown, and leads Brown 5.8 to 5.1 on average. Art Malone, who has 327 yards (and a 5.1 average), slipped to fourth in the NFC this week, behind Calvin Hill of Dallas (351-4.5).

"We didn't do anything new in the second half (after playing poorly in the first half)," said Van Brocklin. "We just came out playing. We had all those penalties and poor field position in the first half and didn't operate."

"We had a complete turnaround, offensively and defensively, in the second half," Atlanta, with a 1-point loss to New England on a missed 10-yard field goal in the final seconds and Sunday's 3-point loss to Detroit, is now 2-2 and a half game off Los Angeles' pace in the NFC West.

"The way things have been going, it's still anybody's race," said Van Brocklin. "The big thing now, after four games, is someone is going to come out and win seven or eight games in a row."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make an appointment to see that new contact instead of just barging in, or you meet with instant opposition. Study a new plan well if you want it to be a success. Don't take anything for granted — be sure.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Exercise self-control and study all those money and other matters well so you know just how to handle them successfully. Forcing mate to go along with your spontaneous ideas is not good. Use diplomacy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Gentle prodding is best if you feel that associates are not carrying their fair share of workload, and then you find all improves. An outsider is going against you. Handle this matter diplomatically.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you are not in the mood to get all that work done that is important, take a little exercise and delve right into it. Then all works out successfully. Not a good day for making changes in wardrobe.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You need the right kind of recreation today but make sure it is not too expensive, then you raise lagging spirits. A word of encouragement to mate brings fine results. Show you are loyal, true.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Using your temper at home is not good, but doing something constructive about the situation there is fine. An opportunity presents itself to prove your ingenuity in the face of an emergency. Use good common sense, judgment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't deliberate so much over shopping and appointments you want to make that you get nothing done at all. Attend to these early and all is fine. Show good friends, neighbors that you really appreciate them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Stop worrying about what cannot be helped and get busy with that plan that will give you more of this world's goods. Study how one who is most successful did it and follow along such lines yourself. However, add an original touch of your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Know what your own hopes and desires are and be sure to weed out those that are unacceptable. Goad about in a social way and gain results. Thus, in p.m. Forget long gabfests on the phone. Use time wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have some wise plan in mind that needs only the advice of an expert to iron out the kinks, and then you can put in fine operation yourself. Don't come out with rash comments that could alienate good associates. Think before you speak.

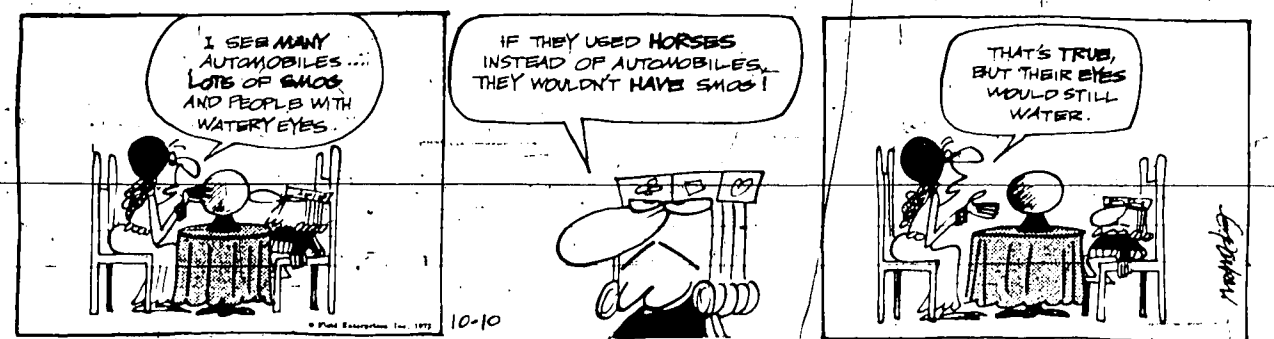

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a better way to gain own aims of a personal nature and get the cooperation of good pals by being cooperative yourself. Don't come out with rash comments that could alienate good associates. Think before you speak.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you are plective with higher-ups, you find you can accomplish much in your community later and have more harmony at home as well. Pay that bill about which you are being pressured. Show you are a cheerful person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will always have something to say and very likely will put the cart before the horse if not taught early to think well before coming out with comments of any kind, or to plan well before tackling any job. Be sure to teach this early and then send to right schools where this articulate youngster can make the most of the fine talents deep in the subconscious in this chart. Much work in foreign lands denoted.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Rain continues Wednesday

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert area: Partly cloudy with scattered showers through Wednesday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and low 40s and highs Wednesday in the low 60s. Outlook for Thursday is partly cloudy with a chance of showers and continued cool.

Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley: Lows tonight in the mid 30s. Highs Wednesday in the upper 50s. Weather will be partly cloudy with scattered showers through Wednesday and continued cloudy, showers and cool for Thursday.

Synopsis: A cold front extends from western Montana to the coast of northern California. Moist southwesterly winds aloft are carrying showers and thunder showers ahead of the front across most of the Intermountain area. The front and the shower activity are moving slowly eastward and rain should continue over the Intermountain region for the next few days.

Clouds tonight should keep minimum temperatures in the upper 30s and 40s but cooler air and partial clearing Wednesday night should drop temperatures into the 30s with areas of scattered frost. Maximum temperatures will continue cooler through Wednesday.

Precipitation has been general during the past 24 hours over southern Idaho.

Your home has another "built-in"

One of the built-in features of your home is the equity you've built up over the years. You can convert that equity into cash with an Avco Financial Services loan. Cash for any reason you can think of. And pay it back conveniently over a period of years, rather than months like most personal loans. It's your business to lend money to homeowners. What you do with the money is your business.

No Opposition

On only two occasions in the history of the United States was there only one presidential candidate running in an election. George Washington was unopposed in 1792 and James Monroe was the sole candidate in 1820.

Britain facing crucial time

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Once again Britain is approaching a time which analysts say will be crucial to its future.

The question is how labor and industry are to react to Prime Minister Edward Heath's proposals for limiting inflation, a subject of even greater current interest to Britons than the country's impending entry into the European Common Market Jan. 1.

British prices have been advancing at the rate of 8 per cent per year and are considered one of the chief reasons for the Heath government's drop to a new low in public opinion polls.

A poll taken by the London Daily Mail showed the Labor Party holding a 17.8 per cent lead over Heath's Conservatives.

To combat inflation, Heath has reversed his position on price and wage controls.

He has proposed a program of voluntary wage and price controls, and coupled with it a move toward equality in pay and a "negative income tax" system under which persons below the poverty level would receive automatic payments from the government.

In view of Labor's traditional hatred for wage controls, labor reaction has been surprisingly mild.

Vic Feathers, general secretary of the huge Trades Union Congress (TUC), said the program would be studied carefully for "it seems to provide a good deal of fair play for a great number of people."

At its annual meeting early in September the TUC declared its "opposition to wage restraint in any form" but instructed Feathers to continue anti-inflation talks with Heath and leaders of the Confederation of British Industry.

Heath has proposed a 12-month limit of $4.90 a week for wages and salaries and a five per cent limit on increases in prices.

He also has committed the government to provide money to support an annual economic growth rate of five per cent for two years. The present rate is about half that.

The Heath formula challenged both labor and the Labor Party leadership of Harold Wilson who has hopes of regaining the prime minister's post.

If labor accepts the Heath plan it must abandon at least temporarily its goal of a socialist revolution.

On the other hand, if the Heath plan is rejected, then it is up to Wilson and the party leadership to come up with an alternative.

Up to now the plan is being called voluntary. But Heath has left little doubt that he will seek other means if it is turned down, including a possible general election.

A London Times editorial has declared the plan vital to the future of democracy in Britain.

Heath government, to the future of the British economy and "conceivably even to the future of democracy in Britain."

Experiment in Pleasure #3

You've heard the expression, "Egg in your beer." Well, how about some scotch in your milk? Made with J&B Rare Scotch and a teaspoon of sugar, it makes a very pleasurable drink called a "Scotch Fling." "Pure Pleasure" is simply J&B on the rocks.
